Special Issue: Violent Youth Radicalisation: Perspectives and Solutions, 2020-12-21 This timely special issue looks at a current pressing societal challenge that is truly global in its existence but very local in the way it plays out in various geographical social and political contexts Terrorism and extremism are undoubtedly among the biggest problems the world is facing today and is leaving in its wake a trail of death and destruction where the human and social costs are perhaps more significant than wars fought between countries on the world stage These realities breed suspicion hatred and feelings of revenge and invariably result in a spiral of violence that seemingly has no end Not only is there a need to explore the various factors leading to violent youth radicalisation it is clear that young people need to be considered not as victims at risk but rather as responsible agents of positive change This issue focuses on violent youth radicalisation in the context of Professor Gavrielides The Youth Empowerment and Innovation Project YEIP which looked at the problem of violent youth radicalisation across seven European Countries The project sought to propose a uniquely different way of combatting violent youth radicalisation by proposing an alternative to punitive means so often favoured by governments That alternative proposed was to use Positive psychology and the Good Lives model to intervene with young people at risk of violent radicalisation focusing on positive identity and well being on the premise that young people who had a positive view of themselves would be less likely to be drawn into violent radicalisation DOI 10 13140 RG 2 2 22734 33606 ISBN 978 1 911634 22 5 Journal ISSN online 2056 2985

This American Moment Caron E. Gentry, 2018-08-01 According to this book the United States is currently in a moment of crisis fomented by anxieties around race and gender politics. Unlike fear which is usually focused on a particular object anxiety is indeterminate and uncertain. It is also the emotion that led to the election and continued support of President Trump. But Caron Gentry says that we can deal with this anxiety in a productive way. To do so she turns to Reinhold Niebuhr whose philosophy of Christian realism has been an abiding influence on foreign policy since the Cold War. According to Niebuhr man's capacity for justice makes democracy possible but man's inclination to injustice makes democracy necessary. Anxiety is central to Niebuhr's ideas an emotion that is abiding because we lack control over the circumstances of our lives. In turn anxiety prompts a desire for unity but also an intolerance for difference. Niebuhr suggests that anxiety can be dealt with destructively or creatively and that power must be balanced to prevent destructive action. Gentry is critical of Niebuhr saying that he gives in to destructive tendencies in humans by elevating power above other more creative solutions. In This American Moment she offers feminist Christian realism as an alternate approach to anxiety in international politics. Gentry's feminist Christian realism differentiates itself from Niebuhr's Christian realism by re-engaging the importance of love and relationships over power. It suggests that we can arrive at creative solutions to anxiety through a conversation about the imago dei and the inherent commitments to community borne of one's relationship with God including the recognition of obligation in the face of vulnerability. Throughout Gentry applies her ideas to the problems of police brutality women's reproductive health and the rise in fascist politics.
