brain stimulation interference as well as resting state brain connectivity Pathological and non pathological i e development or aging changes in the brain can also be conceptualized as potential modulators The aim of this Research Topic is to bridge research from the cognitive sensory motor and psychological domains using various behavioural paradigms and neuroimaging techniques in order to provide a comprehensive view of the online and offline modulators of motor learning and how they interact to influence motor performance Critically the overarching goal is to gain a better understanding of how motor behaviour can be optimized We believe that merging research from diverse neuroscientific communities would contribute to fulfilling this goal and potentially highlight possible shared neurophysiological mechanisms influencing motor learning
