African Studies Review ,1980 Snow on the Cane Fields Judith L. Raiskin,1996 Snow on the Cane Fields was first published in 1995 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions In a probing analysis of creole women s writing over the past century Judith Raiskin explores the workings and influence of cultural and linguistic colonialism Tracing the transnational and racial meanings of creole identity Raiskin looks at four English speaking writers from South Africa and the Caribbean Olive Schreiner Jean Rhys Michelle Cliff and Zo Wicomb She examines their work in light of the discourses of their times nineteenth century race science and imperialistic rhetoric turn of the century anti Semitic sentiment and feminist pacifism postcolonial theory and apartheid legislation In their writing and in their multiple identities these women highlight the gendered nature of race citizenship culture and the language of literature Raiskin shows how each writer expresses her particular ambivalences and divided loyalties both enforcing and challenging the proprietary British perspective on colonial history culture and language A new perspective on four writers and their uneasy places in colonial culture Snow on the Cane Fields reveals the value of pursuing a feminist approach to questions of national political and racial identity Judith Raiskin is assistant professor of women s studies at the University of California Santa Barbara The Creative Woman ,1989

Notes Munger Africana Library,1980 Impaired Vision Judy H. Gardner,1991 Trauma, Memory, and Narrative in the Contemporary South African Novel ,2012-01-01 The contributions to this volume probe the complex relationship of trauma memory and narrative By looking at the South African situation through the lens of trauma they make clear how the psychic deformations and injuries left behind by racism and colonialism cannot be mended by material reparation or by simply reversing economic and political power structures Western trauma theories as developed by scholars such as Caruth van der Kolk Herman and others are insufficient for analysing the more complex situation in a postcolony such as South Africa This is because Western trauma concepts focus on the individual traumatized by a single identifiable event that causes PTSD Post Traumatic Stress Disorder What we need is an understanding of trauma that sees it not only as a result of an identifiable event but also as the consequence of an historical condition in the case of South Africa that of colonialism and more specifically of apartheid For most black and coloured South Africans the structural violence of apartheid s laws were the existential condition under which they had to exist The living conditions in the townships pass laws relocation and racial segregation affected great parts of the South African population and were responsible for the collective traumatization of several generations This trauma however is not an unclaimed and unclaimable experience Postcolonial thinkers who have been reflecting on the experience of violence and trauma in a colonial context writing from within a Fanonian tradition have on the contrary believed in the importance of reclaiming the past and of transcending mechanisms of victimization and resentment so typical of traumatized consciousnesses Narration and the novel have a decisive role to play here Third World Book Review ,1987 Munger Africana Library Notes ,1971 Culture in the New South Africa Abebe Zegeye,Robert Kriger,2001 A distinguished panel of contributors explore social political and economic problems especially the requirements of global capitalism their impact on the development of a new sense of nationhood and on the diverse people of South Africa Third World Women's Literatures Barbara Fister,1995-09-14 This reference volume serves as a companion to Third World women s literatures in English and in English translation by presenting entries on works writers and themes Entries are chosen to present a balance of well known writers and emerging ones contemporary as well as historical writers and representative selections of genres literary styles and themes What plays have been written by women in the developing world What books have been written by Sri Lankan or Brazilian women Which works address themes of feminism or exile or politics in the Third World These are the types of questions that can now be answered through Fister s companion to Third World women s literatures in English and English translation Organized alphabetically this reference volume presents entries on works writers and themes Entries are chosen to present a balance of well known writers and emerging ones contemporary as well as historical writers and representative selections of genres literary styles and themes By providing information about and leads to works by and about Third World women an important and largely marginalized literature Fister has created a unique reference tool that will help teachers scholars and librarians both public and academic expand their definitions of the literary making the voices of Third World women available in the same format in which many companions to Western literature do An important book for all public and college level libraries Masters Abstracts International ,1985 Africa Today ,1981 Southern Africa ,1981 The Bounds of Race Dominick LaCapra,2018-08-06 The concept of race is central to one of the most powerful ideological formations in history Dominick LaCapra argues in his introduction to this volume and understanding the effects of that ideology and its intricate relations with issues of class and gender is one of the most pressing challenges to contemporary modes of thought The eleven essays comprising The Bounds of Race confront this challenge with insight rigor and imagination The authors take on questions of language genre and politics with reference to African American Anglo American African South African Francophone North African British and Afro Hispanic texts Individual chapters discuss writings from an array of genres including homily autobiography the novel children s literature and political and scientific discourse Taken together the essays argue persuasively that the existing canon must be expanded that the protocols of interpretation must be transformed to make a prominent place for such issues as race and that the problem of interpretation cannot be posed in the absence of theoretically informed modes of historical investigation The Bounds of Race provides a subtle analysis of the variable role of racial ideologies and traces the interplay between hegemonic constraints and the strategies of resistance to them
