S. Government, 2017-09-16 This is a fascinating historic analysis of the fall of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War The Cold War s end was sudden unpredicted and the seminal event of the latter half of the twentieth century Since the disintegration of the USSR debate has centered on whom or what was responsible for the end of the conflict Perhaps no issue is as controversial as the role the U S Strategic Defense Initiative SDI played in ending the Cold War Today there are three main schools of thought concerning SDI s impact on the end of the Cold War The first sees the Strategic Defense Initiative as a primary factor in ending the conflict Another argues the initiative extended the Cold War by creating one more hurdle to the negotiations between the two superpowers A third school holds that while SDI had a positive impact on ending the Cold

War it was a secondary factor The third school s position is best supported by the available evidence All of the arguments stem from several key questions The central issue concerns the question What drove Gorbachev s decision to exit the Cold War This thesis rephrases that question more narrowly What were the primary influences that motivated Gorbachev to sign the Treaty Between the United States of America and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics on the Elimination of Their Intermediate Range and Shorter Range Missiles INF Treaty which arguably ended the conflict and to what degree were they instrumental in its signing Additional questions that will be addressed include the following Did either the Soviet Union s investment in developing countermeasures to the U S defense initiative or its own ballistic missile defense BMD system severely strain the Soviet economy Did Soviet fear of losing a new arms race in light of their economic and technological backwardness as compared to the West push them to negotiate Were there other factors that would have driven Gorbachev to exit the Cold War regardless of the Strategic Defense Initiative

The Cold War in American History and Politics David Krugler,David Tucker,2018 The Cold War and the Color Line Thomas Borstelmann,2001 After World War II the United States faced two preeminent challenges how to administer its responsibilities abroad as the world s strongest power and how to manage the rising movement at home for racial justice and civil rights The effort to contain the growing influence of the Soviet Union resulted in the Cold War a conflict that emphasized the American commitment to freedom The absence of that freedom for nonwhite American citizens confronted the nation s leaders with an embarrassing contradiction Racial discrimination after 1945 was a foreign as well as a domestic problem World War II opened the door to both the U S civil rights movement and the struggle of Asians and Africans abroad for independence from colonial rule America s closest allies against the Soviet Union however were colonial powers whose interests had to be balanced against those of the emerging independent Third World in a multiracial anticommunist alliance

At the same time U S racial reform was essential to preserve the domestic consensus needed to sustain the Cold War struggle The Cold War and the Color Line is the first comprehensive examination of how the Cold War intersected with the final destruction of global white supremacy Thomas Borstelmann pays close attention to the two Souths Southern Africa and the American South as the primary sites of white authority s last stand He reveals America s efforts to contain the racial polarization that threatened to unravel the anticommunist western alliance In so doing he recasts the history of American race relations in its true international context one that is meaningful and relevant for our own era of globalization
