Weather by the Numbers Kristine C. Harper,2012-01-13 The history of the growth and professionalization of American meteorology and its transformation into a physics and mathematics based scientific discipline For much of the first half of the twentieth century meteorology was more art than science dependent on an individual forecaster s lifetime of local experience In Weather by the Numbers Kristine Harper tells the story of the transformation of meteorology from a guessing science into a sophisticated scientific discipline based on physics and mathematics What made this possible was the development of the electronic digital computer earlier attempts at numerical weather prediction had foundered on the human inability to solve nonlinear equations quickly enough for timely forecasting After World War II the combination of an expanded observation network developed for military purposes newly trained meteorologists savvy about math and physics and the nascent digital computer created a new way of approaching atmospheric theory and weather forecasting This transformation of a discipline Harper writes was the most important intellectual achievement of twentieth century meteorology and paved the way for the growth of computer assisted modeling in all the sciences Union List of Serials ,1977 Advanced Dam Engineering

Modernization Program,2012-01-25 The Modernization and Associated Restructuring MAR of the National Weather Service NWS was a large and complex re engineering of a federal agency The process lasted a decade and cost an estimated 4 5 billion The result was greater integration of science into weather service activities and improved outreach and coordination with users of weather information The MAR created a new modernized NWS and significantly it created a framework that will allow the NWS to keep up with technological changes in a more evolutionary manner The MAR was both necessary and generally well executed However it required revolutionary often difficult changes The procurement of large complex technical systems presented challenges in and of itself The MAR also affected the career paths and personal lives of a large portion of the field office workforce The MAR created a new modernized NWS and significantly it created a framework that will allow the NWS to keep up with technological changes in a more evolutionary manner The National Weather Service Modernization and Associated Restructuring presents the first comprehensive assessment of the execution of the MAR and its impact on the provision of weather services in the United States This report provides an assessment that addresses the past modernization as well as lessons learned to support future improvements to NWS capabilities Monthly Catalog of
