Desarrollo local y dinámicas territoriales Jaime Escribano Pizarro, Adrián Ferrandis Martínez, 2022-05-06. A modo de homenaje al profesor Joan Noguera Tur se recogen las veinticinco aportaciones que se publicaron en el número en línea que le dedicó TERRA Revista de Desarrollo Local en el verano de 2021 y que ahora se materializan en una obra en papel con el fin de poder llegar a todos aquellos que de un modo u otro han estado siempre cerca de Joan. Estas aportaciones se organizan en cuatro grandes bloques que coinciden con las secciones de la revista. Así, el primero presenta dieciséis artículos científicos firmados por compañeros y compañeras de Joan tanto del ámbito nacional como internacional. El segundo bloque recoge tres aportaciones nacionales en forma de notas y avances de investigación. En el tercero encontramos dos buenas prácticas y experiencias en desarrollo local ambas enraizadas en ámbitos próximos a Joan: el Instituto Interuniversitario de Desarrollo Local y la comarca de La Marina Alta. El cuarto y último bloque está constituido por cuatro reseñas sobre temáticas en las que Joan trabajó a lo largo de su carrera académica, en especial la de una de sus últimas obras que editó: La visión territorial y sostenible del desarrollo local. A modo de epílogo se recogen diversas fotografías que evidencian la implicación de Joan en todo lo que realizaba tanto desde el punto de vista profesional en la investigación y en la docencia como desde el relacional.

Regional Worlds: Advancing the Geography of Regions Martin Jones, Anssi Paasi, 2017-10-02. A key concern in the debate and empirical research on the geography of regions is the evolution of the conceptualizations and practical uses of the idea of region. This idea prioritises both the intellectual and the practical development of regional studies. This book drives the discussion further. It stresses the complex forms of agency, advocacy involved in the production and reproduction of regional spaces and space of regionalism as well as the importance of geohistory and context. The book moves beyond the territorial relational divide that has characterized debates on regions.

and regional borders since the 1990s The contributors answer key questions from different conceptual and concrete contextual angles and to motivate readers to reflect on the perpetual significance of regional concepts and how they are mobilized by various actors to maintain or transform the contested spatialities of societal power relations This book was based on a special issue of Regional Studies

Rural Europe Keith Hoggart, Henry Buller, Richard Black, 1995 This book examines the interaction at national and international level of the economic political and social change processes within Europe that are bringing about fundamental transformations in rural areas Although such changes are experienced at a local level they are heavily imbued with a national tone given that European nations possess distinctive visions of their rural areas These rural identities set limits within which economic political and social agents can act Yet these limits are constantly being subjected to strain particularly with the globalization of economic activity and the strengthening impetus for integrated EC policies

Schmied, 2022-05-05 Instigated by technological and political change Europe's rural areas have undergone profound and all pervasive restructuring processes Although the impact of these processes has often been depicted negatively this is not always the case Bringing together a range of comparative case studies from France Finland Germany Greece Ireland Spain Sweden Portugal the UK and other countries this book provides a comprehensive and balanced picture of rural change over the past five decades It explores which aspects of the European countryside have benefited and which have suffered as a consequence of the often contradictory forces of restructuring The book looks into economic aspects as well as into the social impact of rural change The final part examines regional issues and illustrates how different rural areas have responded to the transformative pressures Power and Gender in European Rural Development Henk de Haan, 2017-11-28 Since the early 1990s new public and private actors emphasizing issues such as landscape nature environment and food safety have challenged EU rural development policies This book looks at this innovative framework and in particular the impacts of the interactions between established interests and newcomers in local power relations Specific attention has been given to the gendered nature of these processes Case studies from throughout Western Europe analyze local rural power relations and present overviews of the significance of rural gender relations The book demonstrates that traditional and new forms of social organization in rural areas create new forms of political participation Changing forms of social capital and political participation not only influence the relation between state and civil society but also male female relationships The book argues that the dynamics of these gendered power relations produce competing discourses which can often hinder policy making and implementation Globalization and Europe's Rural Regions Dr John McDonagh, Prof Dr Birte

Nienaber, Professor Michael Woods, 2015-05-28 This book examines the multiple ways in which rural regions in Europe are being restructured through globalization and the regional development responses that they have adopted It provides an understanding of the key challenges and opportunities for rural regions arising from the major economic social political and cultural changes associated with globalization including trade liberalization and economic deregulation increased international migration and the rise of global consciousness about environmental issues Drawing on examples and findings from a major European research project DERREG the book presents detailed case studies of ten regions in different parts of Europe exploring the factors that lead to different experiences of globalization in each of the regions and highlighting examples of good practice in regional development responses The book concludes by proposing a typology of regional responses to globalization and considering the policy implications of the research findings As such Globalization and Europe's Rural Regions is important reading for geographers sociologists planners and economists interested in understanding the impact of globalization in rural regions and for rural development professionals seeking to mobilize effective responses

Translocal Ruralism Charlotta Hedberg, Renato Miguel do Carmo, 2011-10-05 Rural areas are often viewed as isolated and stagnating areas and urban areas as their opposites Against such a backdrop this book seeks to unveil a set of dynamics that view rural areas as translocal in the sense that they are changing and interconnected Social transformations take place in rural areas as the result of intense exchanges between different people settings and geographies Accordingly rural urban but also rural rural interrelations on international and national scales are strongly contributing to rural change Translocal ruralism is exemplified through the analysis of local and global migratory flows the activities of rural firms in national and global arenas the spread of different forms of transportation and dislocation and the growing information society which enables rural spaces to be connected to the world and improves new ways of interconnection and sociability practices The book is structured into two parts which intertwine the dynamics of rural spaces The first part Linking nodes people and networks connecting places is concerned with mobilities such as migration and commuting and the establishment of national and global networks The second part International mobilities a tension between scales analyses the dynamics of international migration and mobilities in rural areas
