Marcellus F. Mbah, Walter Leal
Filho, Sandra Ajaps

Ruaha University College Application Form 2015 2016:

Indigenous Methodologies, Research and Practices for Sustainable Development Marcellus F. Mbah, Walter Leal Filho, Sandra Ajaps, 2022-10-21 This book states that whilst academic research has long been grounded on the idea of western or scientific epistemologies this often does not capture the uniqueness of Indigenous contexts and particularly as it relates to the achievement of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs The SDGs were announced in 2015 accompanied by 17 goals and 169 targets These goals are the means through which Agenda 2030 for sustainable development is to be pursued and realised over the next 15 years and the contributions of Indigenous peoples are essential to achieving these goals Indigenous peoples can be found in practically every region of the world living on ancestral homelands in major cities rainforests mountain regions desert plains the arctic and small Pacific Islands Their languages knowledges and values are rooted in the landscapes and natural resources within their territories However many Indigenous peoples are now minorities within their homelands and globally and there is a dearth of research based on Indigenous epistemologies and methodologies Furthermore academic research on Indigenous peoples is typically based on western lenses Thus the paucity of Indigenous methodologies within mainstream research discourses present challenges for implementing practical research designs and interpretations that can address epistemological distinctiveness within Indigenous communities There is therefore the need to articulate as well as bring to the nexus of research aimed at fostering sustainable development a decolonising perspective in research design and practice This is what this book wants to achieve The contributions critically reflect on Indigenous approaches to research design and implementation towards achieving the sustainable development goals as well as the associated challenges and opportunities The contributions also advanced knowledge theory and practice of Indigenous methodologies for sustainable development
