Drug Fundamentals, Plus the Most Frequently Prescribed Drug Classifications—including Indications, Reactions, Examples & More

definitions

- pharmacodynamics Study of the mechanisms of action of drugs within the body and how drugs produce their effects in the body
- pharmacogenetics Study of drug reactions in the body that are anticipated or unusual, and may have a hereditary basis for the response
- pharmacokinetics Study of drug actions as they move through the body; the way the body absorbs, distributes, metabolizes and excretes drugs; mathematical study of drugs based on time and dose
- pharmacology Study of biologically active compounds, how they react in the body and how the body reacts to them
- pharmacotherapeutics Study of drugs used to prevent, treat or diagnose disease
- pharmacy Preparation and dispensing of drugs
- toxicology Study of harmful or poisonous effects of drugs

pharmacodynamics

Receptors

- Protein molecules with one or more binding sites, located on cell membranes
- Receive a signal from the body's chemicals: neurotransmitters, hormones, enzymes
- Signal will cause a molecular event on the inside of the cell to occur
- Drugs Enhance (agonist), diminish (partial agonist) or block (antagonist) the generation, transmission or receiving of the signal
- Affinity Attraction between a drug and a receptor
- High affinity Drug will bind easily to the receptor
- Low affinity Requires a higher concentration of the drug to get a therapeutic response

Drug Potency

- Amount of drug required to produce a therapeutic response

Dose Response Curve

- Effective Dose (ED) Amount of drug that produces a therapeutic response in 50% of the people taking it
- Toxic Dose (TD) Amount of drug that produces adverse effects in 50% of the people taking it
- Therapeutic Index (TI) Margin of safety; ratio between the TD and the ED
- The Higher the TI, the safer the drug is considered to be; in general, nonprescription drugs have much higher TIs than prescription drugs

pharmacokinetics

Routes drugs take to get into the body

- Enteral
 - Enters the body through the GI tract
 - Taken by mouth, through the rectum, under the tongue or held in the cheeks
- Parenteral
 - Enters the body through a different means (i.e., other than the GI tract)
 - Can be injected into the veins, arteries, muscles, spinal cord, or under the skin; inhaled through the lungs; transdermally through the skin via ointment or patch

Absorption

- Bioavailability Percent absorbed into systemic circulation after administration
- Bioavailability depends on route of administration as well as the drug's ability to cross membranes and reach its target
- First Pass Effect
 - Drugs absorbed through the stomach and small intestine must pass through the liver before circulating systemically
 - Liver can inactivate the drug, making less of the drug available to reach the target organ
- Absorption at cellular level occurs through passive transport, active transport, pinocytosis and facilitated diffusion

Distribution

- Influenced by several factors:
 - Tissue permeability: Ability of drug to pass through the membranes rapidly affects the extent to which the drug moves around in the body
 - Blood flow: Once in the blood stream, will get to the organs and tissues that are highly perfused
 - Plasma proteins binding: Drug can bind to a protein that will render the drug inactive; only an unbound drug can attach to the receptors
 - Binding to subcellular components
 - Blood pH

Drug Storage Sites

- Adipose tissue Primary site; lipid-soluble; drugs tend to remain for long periods of time due to low metabolic rates of drugs and poor blood perfusion of tissue
- Bone Toxic agents like heavy metals
- Muscle Binding can cause muscle to store drugs
- Organs Liver and kidneys

Metabolism

- Biotransformation Chemical changes that occur in the drug following administration
- Metabolite Altered version of the chemical compound
- Can have a higher or lower rate of activity than the original drug; if higher, drug is given as an inactive or prodrug form
- Prodrug Requires metabolism or activation of drug in order for it to act within the body

Excretion

- First order Rate of removal of drug from the body is proportional to the concentration of the drug in the plasma
- Half-life Time required to decrease the blood levels of a drug by one-half
- A one-time drug dosage will be eliminated almost completely by 5 half-lives
- A drug given on a continuous dosage schedule will reach steady state concentration after 5 half-lives
- Steady state Rate of drug administration is equal to the rate of drug excretion
- Organs that excrete drugs Kidneys, lungs, sweat glands, mammary glands, salivary glands, skin and GI tract

schedule drugs

Schedule Class

Schedule 1: C-I
Schedule 2: C-II

Schedule 3: C-III

Schedule 4: C-IV

Schedule 5: C-V
