The Korean War William Stueck, 1997-07-07. This first truly international history of the Korean War argues that by its timing, its course and its outcome, it functioned as a substitute for World War III. Stueck draws on recently available materials from seven countries plus the archives of the United Nations, presenting a detailed narrative of the diplomacy of the conflict and a broad assessment of its critical role in the Cold War. He emphasizes the contribution of the United Nations, which at several key points in the conflict provided an important institutional framework within which less powerful nations were able to restrain the aggressive tendencies of the United States. In Stueck's view, contributors to the U.N. cause in Korea provided support not out of any abstract commitment to a universal system of collective security, but because they saw an opportunity to influence U.S. policy. Chinese intervention in Korea in the fall of 1950 brought with it the threat of world war, but at that time, and in other instances prior to the armistice in July 1953, America's NATO allies and Third World neutrals succeeded in curbing American adventurism. While conceding the tragic and brutal nature of the war, Stueck suggests that it helped to prevent the occurrence of an even more destructive conflict in Europe.

The Origins of the Korean War Peter Lowe, 2014-07-30. The impressive Second Edition of this standard study incorporates important new evidence on the origins of the war from Chinese and Russian archives. It reveals that Stalin encouraged the attack on South Korea, but also confirms that the original initiative came from North Korea. Peter Lowe has also written an extended conclusion with a discussion of the Koreas in the late 1990s and the challenges

The Social Ecology of Border Landscapes Anna Grichting, Michele Zebich-Knos, 2017-05-02 The collection of essays in The Social Ecology of Border Landscapes defines borders and borderlands to include territorial interfaces marginal spaces physical sociological and psychological and human consciousness From theoretical and conceptual presentations on social ecology and its agencies and representations to case studies and concrete projects and initiatives the contributing authors uncover a thread of contemporary thought and action on this important emerging field The essays aim to define the territories of social ecology to investigate how social agencies can activate ecological processes and systems and to understand how the interactions of people and ecosystems can create new sustainable landscapes across tangible and intangible territorial rifts Winning the Un-war Charles V. Peña, 2007 According to President Bush the American people are safer as a result of invading Iraq True Saddam Hussein has been removed from power But al Qaeda the group that planned and carried out the attacks on September 11 remains at large Meanwhile the White House has conceded that Saddam Hussein had nothing to do with the attacks Charles Peña argues that the war in Iraq is but one misstep in the Bush administration s global war on terror Terrorism is simply a tactic however not an enemy Trying to eradicate it is a quixotic quest that does not focus on those responsible for 9 11 Instead the national security strategy should consist of three central elements establishing homeland security against further attacks dismantling the al Qaeda terrorist network and enacting a foreign policy that does not attract new al Qaeda terrorists This approach requires restructuring U S forces and ending Cold War era commitments that distract from the current pressing threat It also requires ameliorating the negative consequences of an interventionist U S foreign policy which creates incentives and opportunities for terrorists to target the United States If we misdiagnose al Qaeda s motivations or focus military efforts on the wrong targets then we run the risk that the war against the al Qaeda terrorist threat and the radical Islamic ideology it represents will become a broader war against the Islamic world that could last generations and cost countless lives With a foreword by Michael Scheuer the bestselling author of Imperial Hubris Communist Activity in Mass Communications United States. Asia's Aging Security Andrew L. Oros,2025-09-09 Major demographic transitions are underway in Asia and the Pacific The populations of China Japan Taiwan South Korea and Russia are aging and shrinking while India the Philippines Vietnam and Australia among others continue to grow How will these striking changes affect regional security dynamics and the United States led alliance structure in the Indo Pacific Andrew L Oros offers an expert analysis of how rapid aging and population shifts are transforming the military strategies and capabilities of regional powers in Asia Examining sixteen states he provides a comparative view of the developing landscape and explores ways to address the consequences Oros demonstrates that contrary to what many have claimed states with shrinking populations will continue to be formidable military powers He develops a novel theoretical and empirical argument for why rapid aging does not necessarily dampen security competition Nonetheless demographic shifts in the coming decades will fundamentally alter the security challenges facing the United States and its allies Oros considers how technological change and health care advances are mitigating the drawbacks of aging populations as well as how factors such as autonomous defense systems and artificial intelligence present new challenges Rigorous and timely Asia s Aging Security makes a forceful case that adjustment to demographic change is a necessity for twenty first century foreign policy European Union Foreign Policy Hazel Smith,2002-03-20

As the European Union is not a nation state it is not generally perceived to have a foreign policy However this book argues that quite the reverse is true that an overemphasis on procedure and structures has disguised the fact that the EU has a clear foreign policy that can be analysed in much the same way as that of the sovereign state Conventional assessments of the EU focus on the mechanisms institutions and treaties through which policies are implemented Smith shows how this can lead to a massive underestimation of the capacities of the EU Rather than concentrating on how the policy of the EU is made Smith investigates the action that it has engaged in abroad and the nature of its diverse global interventions in relation to the United States and the industrialised North the various regions of the South and most recently its huge involvement in east and central Europe and the entire European continent Developing a pathbreaking analysis of the nature of EU foreign policy this comprehensive account shows how the EU can be very effective indeed in promoting its own domestic interests abroad
