MEMORIAL DAY 2023
Never forget.
Forever honor.

Northeast Ohio had near-perfect weather Monday to honor and celebrate those who have served and fallen for the United States. Shaker Heights held its Memorial Day ceremony at the Shaker Heights War Memorial outside of City Hall, with Shaker Heights Mayor David Weiss opening the ceremony. Shaker Heights High School students were showcased during the ceremony, singing the National Anthem, reading the Gettysburg Address and performing taps before marching in the parade. Later, a wreath was placed at the War Memorial before an honor guard performed a 21-gun salute and taps was played. Photos by Joshua Gunter, cleveland.com

EAST CLEVELAND

From convicted dump operator to prolific informant

George Michael Riley wore a wire for 10 months under the watch of anti-corruption FBI agents.

Cory Shaffer csa@freemedia.com

Less than a month after firefighters extinguished the blaze that burned for a week at the former ARCO Recycling Center in East Cleveland, investigators from three federal law enforcement agencies sat down with the man who ran the disposal site.

George Michael Riley confessed that he hadn't paid taxes on the dump — or any of his businesses — in years. He also had multiple fraud convictions on his record. But that didn't stop him from becoming a key informant in the push to end corruption in East Cleveland.

Riley told the agents in a pretrial interview in November 2007 that he had been paying cash to multiple East Cleveland officials in the five years since he began doing business there, a move to carry favor with the upper echelons of the cash-strapped city.

Over the next 10 months, Riley met with a former mayor, a former police officer and a Cuyahoga County Land Bank employee — all while wearing a wire and under the watch of some of Cleveland's top anti-corruption FBI agents, according to records obtained by cleveland.com and ThePlainDealer.com.

Riley became a prolific informant behind some of the most high-profile prosecutions in East Cleveland, but he has never been called to the stand to testify about his work for the government. His connection to the case that made headlines for the last five years was largely kept under wraps.

And while it seems that federal prosecutors quickly ran with some of the things Riley had told them, much of the conduct he described in multiple interviews and phone conversations over several months never led to criminal charges in U.S. District Court.

Authorities never prosecuted Riley for the fire at the disposal site or how he managed his businesses. However, Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost's office sued Riley, his company and its co-founder, and a judge ordered them to pay more than $30 million combined, the largest civil penalty the state has won for an environmental disaster.

Riley is now at the heart of bribery charges against two former East Cleveland police officers stemming from his work as a confidential informant in 2018. Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Michael O'Malley's office brought the case to a grand jury late last year.

If a judge grants a request from one of the officers to withdraw his guilty plea and the case goes on, it could mean Riley to the witness stand for the first time.

Riley, who also goes by the name Anthony Costello, now lives in Southeast Ohio. He could not be reached for comment. His attorney, County Prosecutor Michael O'Malley's office brought the case to a grand jury late last year.

THE BLAST Riley is no stranger to having his credibility challenged in a courtroom.

In one case, government attorneys would file as their key witness, a man that became a major issue. The case ultimately ended with federal prosecutors dropping the charges, including bribery, that were based on Riley's claims.

RETHINKING CHILD CARE

How child care cost one mother her job

Gretchen Cuda Krom
gcuda@freemedia.com

Elizabeth Bailey is a mother of three. She has a college degree, and work experience. She is also a full-time stay-at-home mom, but not by choice. Sitting at her dining table, the 30-year-old from Elyria tells how she worked her way through not just one but two degrees, marriage, childbirth and motherhood in the midst of COVID-19, all while earning the other side in 2022 with a full-time job as a payroll specialist.

She speaks articulately about her situation and, despite being unemployed by the time she was laid off, she exudes an air of confidence and professionalism.

It was, she says, a great job, where she was successful and felt supported and appreciated. She was even on track for advancement.

But the job was not to last. After just four months, she needed to find a new daycare provider and her childcare costs had increased yet again. Bailey says she had to face a harsh reality: she was losing money going to work.

Elizabeth Bailey was making $19 an hour as a full-time payroll specialist, but her weekly childcare bill was more than her weekly paycheck. Gretchen Cuda Krom, cleveland.com

"I was making $19 an hour full time, making benefits company. It was practically my dream job," said Bailey.

But $19 an hour is only $260 a week, before taxes and payroll deductions like health insurance. The cost of her child care was nearly $400 a week. Bailey quit.

She now takes care of the children full time, and her husband supports their family as the sole wage-earner.

Plain Dealer School Report

Jon C. Teafor

Plain Dealer School Report:

School Corruption Armand Fusco, 2005-09 School Corruption Betrayal of Children and the Public Trust is an exposé of corruption in public schools and related agencies. It shatters the complacency and silence of the pervasive corruption found in school districts throughout the Nation. Dr. Armand A. Fusco provides a detailed look at the rationale for the three levels of corrupt acts: cheating and deceit, waste and mismanagement, and fraud and stealing. Find out how and where shameful and deplorable corrupt acts have been committed in each state and school district as Fusco delves into some tough questions: Why does corruption and political correctness lead to poor student achievement, disgraceful school outcomes, and failing schools? How does inept school governance allow corruption to flourish with such ease? What is the most important question that is never asked of an applicant for superintendent of schools? The harsh reality is that corruption has become a natural part of the educational landscape, but it is hidden from view by walls of denial and self-protection. Only by accepting the challenge of a new beginning can trust be restored so that the devastating impact of corrupt acts on the education of children and the violation of the public trust will become a thing of the past. The High School Teacher, 1929 Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. In 1888 the British observer James Bryce declared the government of cities to be the one conspicuous failure of the United States. During the following two decades urban reformers would repeat Bryce's words with ritualistic regularity. Nearly a century later his comment continues to set the tone for most assessments of nineteenth-century city government. Yet by the end of the century as Jon Teaford argues in this important reappraisal, American cities boasted the most abundant water.

supplies brightest street lights grandest parks largest public libraries and most efficient systems of transportation in the world Far from being a conspicuous failure municipal governments of the late nineteenth century had successfully met challenges of an unprecedented magnitude and complexity The Unheralded Triumph draws together the histories of the most important cities of the Gilded Age especially New York Chicago Boston Philadelphia St Louis and Baltimore to chart the expansion of services and the improvement of urban environments between 1870 and 1900 It examines the ways in which cities were transformed in a period of rapid population growth and increased social unrest into places suitable for living Teaforde demonstrates how during the last decades of the nineteenth century municipal governments adapted to societal change with the aid of generally compliant state legislatures These were the years that saw the professionalization of city government and the political accommodation of the diverse ethnic economic and social elements that compose America's heterogeneous urban society Teaforde acknowledges that the expansion of urban services dangerously strained city budgets and that graft embezzlement overcharging and payroll padding presented serious problems throughout the period The dissatisfaction with city governments arose however not so much from any failure to achieve concrete results as from the conflicts between those hostile groups accommodated within the newly created system For persons of principle and gentlemen who prized honor it seemed a failure yet American municipal government left as a legacy such achievements as Central Park the new Croton Aqueduct and the Brooklyn Bridge monuments of public enterprise that offered new pleasures and conveniences for millions of urban citizens
