

AGRICULTURE GRADE 10 NOTES

Livestock Production Selection and Breeding

Introduction

- The breeding of animals is under human control, and the breeders decide which individuals shall produce the next generation.
- The breeder makes a choice.
- The breeding of animals is based upon the fact that certain qualities are genetic; hence valuable qualities are passed on from parents to off-springs.
- The qualities can be maintained or improved in the next generation.

The performance of an animal is influenced by two major factors;

- Genetic potential
- The environment, which includes:
 - Feeding,
 - Health,
 - Care
 - The ecological conditions.
- The genetic potential of an animal is inherited from its parents.
- In selection and breeding animals with superior characteristics are selected and allowed to mate.
- In the process they transmit the superior characteristics to their offspring.
- When this is done over a long period of time, it results in livestock improvement.

Reproduction and Reproductive Systems

- Reproduction is the process by which off-springs are produced.
- All farm animals multiply by means of sexual reproduction.
- It begins with fertilization which is the fusion of male and female gametes to form a zygote.
- Fertilization takes place internally in the body of the female.
- The embryo(zygote) formed develops inside body of mother, fed and protected until end of gestation period.
- In poultry, the process is different in that eggs are fertilized internally but laid and development of the chick takes place outside during incubation.
- In both male and female, certain organs are specialized for the process of reproduction.
- Some of these organs secrete fluids which are necessary for the movement and survival of the gametes (reproductive cells.)

Scope Of Agriculture Paper1:

Bombay University Handbook University of Bombay, 1926 Achieving the Paris Climate Agreement Goals Sven Teske, 2022-08-09 This open access book is designed as a continuation of the editor's 2019 book Achieving the Paris Climate Agreement Goals. This volume provides an in-depth analysis of industry sectors globally and its purpose is to present emission reduction targets in 5 year steps 2025 to 2050 for the main twelve finance sectors per the Global Industry Classification System. This scientific analysis aims to support the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investment initiative to give sustainability guidance for the global finance industry. The industry sector pathways presented here are based on the latest global and regional 100% renewable energy and non energy greenhouse gas Representative Concentration Pathways in order to keep climate change significantly under 1.5 C and thereby achieve the Paris Climate Agreement goals. The heart of this book is three chapters presenting the results of industry scenario modelling. These chapters cover twelve industry and service sectors as well as transportation and buildings. The specific energy demand and specific emissions are presented based on the emission accounting concept of Scope 1, Scope 2 and Scope 3 emission pathways. This methodology has been developed to measure the climate and sustainability index for companies and this research project expands the methodology to apply it to entire industry sectors. The results presented here are the first overall industry assessments under Scope 1, 2 and 3 from 2020 through 2050. The base for the energy pathways is the scenarios published in the previous volume. The nonenergy GHG emission scenarios broken down to agriculture, forestry and industry are detailed and include all major greenhouse gases and aerosols. The final section of the book presents the main conclusions of the industry pathway development work and recommendations for the finance industry and policy makers. Additionally, future qualitative future investment requirements in specific technologies and measures are presented. Rural Landscapes and Agricultural Policies in Europe Annette Piore, Klaus Müller, 2009-10-29 These are the final results and reflections of the project MEA Scope. This project with the full title 'Micro economic instruments for impact assessment of multifunctional agriculture to implement the model of European Agriculture' was a pioneering project. It was among the first which were funded in the new activity 'Scientific Support to Policies of the 6th Research Framework Programme'. Policy decisions especially at the European level are never easy. What policy makers decide will potentially affect the lives of millions of people for many years. This makes reaching informed decisions crucial and scientific research can help illuminate their policy choices MEA Scope was one of two projects which addressed the research priorities for European Rural areas which were identified in an EC workshop on Multifunctionality in Agriculture in 2001 Scientific Support to Policies in the Research Framework Programme is facing the challenge to identify in the discussions between policy makers and the research community those topics which can be addressed in a medium term strategic research programme When the research topic was published Multifunctionality of Agriculture was among the concepts with many search questions open It was considered that positivistic approaches into technology aspects of agriculture forestry and other rural activities based on natural resources and land use are needed as well as more normative research with regard to trade food quality and safety animal welfare environment rural development and cultural issues Annual Report United States. Vosti,Thomas Anthony Reardon,2007-01-01 Developing countries are under pressure to produce more food for their growing populations conserve natural resources and reduce poverty In the short term however these goals may compete with one another This book focuses on the interactions between agricultural growth and environment and between environment and poverty The chapters analyze and illustrate these interactions with case study evidence from the developing world in general and from specific agroclimatic zones in Africa Asia and Latin America The contributors also discuss what these links mean for development policies agricultural technologies and social and economic institutions With a clearer picture of how these goals interact policymakers and researchers can design strategies for working more effectively to meet them Annual Report of the Superintendent of Documents United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1913 Intellectual Property and Traditional Knowledge in the Global Economy Teshager W. Dagne, 2014-09-04 Arising from recent developments at the international level many developing countries indigenous peoples and local communities are considering using geographical indications GIs to protect traditional knowledge and to promote trade and overall economic development Despite the considerable enthusiasm over GIs in diverse quarters there is an appreciable lack of research on how far and in what context GIs can be used as a protection model for traditional knowledge based resources This book critically examines the potential uses of geographical indications as models for protecting traditional knowledge based products and resources in national and international intellectual property legal frameworks By analysing the reception towards GIs from developing countries and advocates of development in the various legal and non legal regimes including the World Trade Organization World Intellectual Property Organization and the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Food and Agricultural Organization the book evaluates the development potential of GIs in relation to ensuing changes in international intellectual property law in accommodating traditional knowledge Teshager W Dagne argues for a degree of balance in the approach to the implementation of global intellectual property rights in a manner that gives developing countries an opportunity to protect traditional knowledge based products The book will be of great interest and use to scholars and students of intellectual property law public international law traditional knowledge and global governance
