Scope For Business Studies November 2014:

Sustainable Investing Cary Krosinsky, Sophie Purdom, 2016-12-08 A seminal shift has taken place in the world of investing. A clear and overarching reality has emerged which must be solved: financial considerations must factor in sustainability considerations for ongoing societal success while sustainability issues equally need to be driven by a business case. As a result, investment practices are evolving especially towards more positive philosophies and frameworks. Sustainable Investing brings the reader up to speed on trends playing out in each region and asset class drawing on contributions from leading practitioners across the globe. Implications abound for financial professionals and other interested investors as well as corporations seeking to understand future investment trends that will affect their shareholders thinking. Policymakers and other stakeholders also need to be aware of what is happening in order to understand how they can be most effective at helping implement and enable the changes arguably now required for economic and financial success. Sustainable Investing represents an essential overview of sustainable investment practices that will be a valuable resource for students and scholars of sustainable banking and finance as well as professionals and policymakers with an interest in this fast moving field.

The Autonomy of Labour Law Alan Bogg, Cathryn Costello, ACL Davies, Jeremias Adams-Prassl, 2015-03-26 To what extent is labour law an autonomous field of study? This book is based upon the papers written by a group of leading international scholars on this theme delivered at a conference to mark Professor Mark Freedland's retirement from his teaching fellowship in Oxford. The chapters explore the boundaries and connections between labour law and other legal disciplines such as company law, competition law, contract law and public law; labour law and legal methodologies such as reflexive governance and comparative law; and labour law and other disciplines such as ethics, economics and political philosophy. In so doing it represents a cross section of the most sophisticated current work at the cutting edge of labour law theory.

Exporting Transnational Education Vangelis Tsiligiris, William Lawton, 2018-07-04 This book focuses on the dynamic and rapidly expanding field of transnational higher education (TNE). Despite the increasing importance of TNE and the interest it has attracted from various stakeholders, there is a lack of theoretical and empirical evidence on several aspects pertaining to its operation and governance. This book provides a unique combination of contributions from researchers and practitioners in a wide variety of case studies from TNE exporting countries in Europe and Asia. In doing so, the editors with added support from Dr Christopher Hill examine how this gap between research and practice can be bridged. This valuable edited collection will be of use to researchers and practitioners in transnational education as well as students and scholars of international education and higher education policy

The Law and Economics of Personalization Adrianus Johannes Van Heusden, 2025-09-01 Imagine every ad every price and even every contract completely tailored to you welcome to the age of AI driven hyper personalization Today vast amounts of consumer data are collected and processed to build individualized profiles with ever increasing precision This enables one to one interactions that evolve in real time and allow firms to influence behavior with unprecedented subtlety Personalized marketing holds the promise of meeting consumer needs more effectively and making digital experiences more relevant and efficient Yet this seemingly customized environment raises urgent concerns about the power of such marketing to exploit cognitive biases reshape preferences and deepen asymmetries in digital markets This book offers the first in depth law and economics analysis of personalized marketing in the digital age It examines how personalized advertising pricing and contracting challenge foundational principles of consumer protection and explores to what extent these practices are regulated under the current EU legal framework The analysis shows that while existing rules provide some safeguards they fall short of addressing the systemic risks posed by hyper personalization To respond to these challenges the book develops a four part policy approach aimed at reinforcing consumer autonomy equity and welfare in data driven markets and bridging the regulatory gaps that personalization opens up Regulating these developments involves a clear trade off between efficiency and fairness How much freedom do you give up in exchange for a hyper personalized experience How confident are you that the price you pay will not exceed what others pay for the exact same service And what does it mean for your autonomy when an algorithm predicts your behavior better than you do yourself This book offers a critical starting point for future regulation and a call to rethink the role of personalization in the digital economy

Coherence and Divergence in Services Trade Law Rhea Tamara Hoffmann,Markus

Krajewski,2020-07-23 This book addresses topical questions concerning the legal framework of trade in services and assesses how these issues are dealt with in GATS and in selected preferential trade agreements In addition the chapters discuss whether the differences and similarities if any are evidence of greater coherence or greater divergence The book combines the individual analyses to provide a more comprehensive picture of the current law on services trade liberalisation A quarter of a century after the conclusion of the General Agreement on Trade and Services GATS international law on trade in services is still in a state of flux on the one hand countries increasingly conclude bilateral and regional trade agreements with sections on trade in services that aim at a further liberalisation of services trade On the other the GATS structure remains the dominant model and serves as the basis for many preferential trade agreements In addition new aspects such as electronic commerce data protection and taxation are now emerging while issues that had already manifested in the mid 1990s such as financial services regulation labour mobility and telecommunications continue to be problematic Usually the debates focus on the question of whether preferential trade agreements serve as a stepping stone or stumbling block for trade liberalisation at the multilateral level However it can be assumed that rules on trade in services in preferential trade agreements will coexist with the global GATS regime for the foreseeable future This raises the question of whether we are currently witnessing a drive towards greater coherence or more divergence in agreements on trade in services

Judicial Individuality on the UK Supreme Court Lewis Graham,2025-02-06 This book presents an empirical analysis of the UK Supreme Court s output over its first ten years with a specific focus on each individual judge s contribution to each case It shows that judges like all of us are human it would be difficult to imagine that any of us even in our most professional capacity could act completely independently of our predilections motivations and biases The same is true for the judges sitting on the UK s highest court Drawing on insights from a bespoke dataset of judgments this work discerns trends and tendencies across each judge s voting patterns and the reasoning they adopt when disposing of cases It not only highlights areas of divergence but also shows how each of the judges tended to vote in different contexts including which were more likely to overturn appeals from lower courts side with certain parties such as the state or underdogs and find liability in various areas tort contract criminal EU immigration and tax law with a special focus on human rights cases Another section illustrates the differences between the judges when it comes to judicial reasoning such as their approach to precedent and preferred methods of statutory interpretation This work shows that different judges exercise their power in different ways Some are more comfortable with pushing boundaries whilst others are more restrained Some grant the state a lot of leeway whilst others apply heavy scrutiny Some are as Lord Denning suggested bold spirits whilst others are timorous souls It shows at least when it comes to the Supreme Court that it matters who our judges are

The Rise and Decline of Fundamental Rights in EU Citizenship Adrienne Yong, 2019-03-21 This book argues that there is an inherent relationship between EU fundamental rights and EU citizenship they both have the same objective of guaranteeing protection for the individual This is underpinned by the development of case law in the field by the Court of Justice of the EU CJEU Here however the author proposes that that relationship has weakened in recent years as the CJEU has entered increasingly sensitive territory in regard to the protection of citizenship rights and fundamental rights Writing in the post UK EU referendum environment the author argues that this decline is attributable to increasing Euroscepticism which has worsened since the Eurozone crisis and even more so in light of Brexit and arguments made that leaving the EU would reduce immigration This argument is particularly important to note given the rising fears of immigration that underlie much of the dissatisfaction with the EU project a feeling prevalent not only in the UK The chapters look at the rights of migrant EU citizens in Member States other than their own and the guarantees that exist as a matter of protecting their fundamental human rights which are present alongside rights enjoyed as part of being an EU citizen
