stand alone modules are organized into themed units and offer instructors the flexibility to tailor the book's contents to the needs of their course. The units begin with a set of case studies written for early childhood, elementary, middle, and secondary classrooms, providing students with direct insight into the dynamics influencing the future students they plan to teach. All 25 modules highlight diversity, emphasizing how psychological factors adapt and change based on external influences such as sex, gender, race, language, disability, status, and socioeconomic background. The Fourth Edition includes over three hundred new references across all 25 modules and expanded coverage of diversity in new diversity-related research. This title is accompanied by a complete teaching and learning package.

Teacher Quality in a Changing Policy Landscape Drew H. Gitomer, 2005

Critical Praxis and the Social Imaginary for Sustainable Food Systems Max Stephenson, Kim Niewolny, Anna Erwin, Laura Zanotti, 2024-09-26

Scholarship and high-level diplomatic reports alike, including that of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change 2021, have highlighted the negative material and bodily inequities of our globalized industrial food system, one that is fuelled by a hegemonic politics of food access and availability. The effects of industrialized food systems on public health, human rights, food sovereignty, ecological sustainability for land and water, as well as for climate change, are increasingly obvious. These ongoing challenges, along with the COVID-19 pandemic, have exacerbated existing social, economic, and political inequalities and vulnerabilities and placed them in the spotlight. The crisis in Ukraine has also underscored how connected global industrialized food systems are to nation-state geopolitical interests, international alliances, trade relations, and conflicts. The current industrialized resource-intensive food system has persisted because of a complex set of power relations despite its continuing and deepening social, ecological, and cultural costs.

Perspectives on Greek Musical Modernism Eva Mantzourani, Costas Tsougras, Petros Vouvaris, 2025-03-24

This is the first book to investigate systematically the diverse aspects and compositional approaches of Greek musical modernism. The volume contributes to ongoing discussions about aesthetic modernism in general and the epistemological issues that pertain to its historiography, especially with respect to challenging the centre-periphery dichotomy that has previously informed its conceptual framework. The book strikes a balance between offering thematically focused contributions and serving as a reference source for scholars interested in looking more thoroughly into unexamined or overlooked aspects of musical modernism. To do so, it encompasses a variety of case studies presented in a series of 13 chapters that cover a wide array of methodological approaches from historical and critical to analytical and philosophical. These chapters are organised along the lines of a historical narrative that traces the reception of musical modernism in Greece, ranging from downright rejection during the mid-war period to affirmative institutionalisation in the post-war years. In this context, the book will interest not only musicians, musicologists, and music theorists but also cultural historians and other scholars involved in studying the emergence, development, and dissemination of modernism worldwide.
