Developing Core Literacy Proficiencies, Grade 11 Odell Education, 2016-09-06

The Developing Core Literacy Proficiencies program is an integrated set of English Language Arts Literacy units spanning grades 6-12 that provide student-centered instruction on a set of literacy proficiencies at the heart of the Common Core State Standards: CCSS Reading Closely for Textual Details, Making Evidence-Based Claims, Making Evidence-Based Claims about Literary Technique, Grades 9-12 Researching to Deepen Understanding, Building Evidence-Based Arguments. The program approaches literacy through the development of knowledge, literacy skills, and academic habits. Throughout the activities, students develop their literacy along these three paths in an integrated, engaging, and empowering way.

Knowledge: The texts and topics students encounter in the program have been carefully selected to expose them to rich and varied ideas and perspectives of cultural significance. These texts not only equip students with key ideas for participating knowledgeably in the important discussions of our time but also contain the complexity of expression necessary for developing college and career-ready literacy skills.

Literacy Skills: The program articulates and targets instruction and assessment on twenty CCSS-aligned literacy skills ranging from making inferences to reflecting critically. Students focus on this set of twenty skills throughout the year and program continually applying them in new and more sophisticated ways.

Academic Habits: The program articulates twelve academic habits for students to develop, apply, and extend as they progress through the sequence of instruction. Instructional notes allow teachers to introduce and discuss academic habits such as preparing and completing tasks that are essential to students' success in the classroom. The program materials include a comprehensive set of instructional sequences, teacher notes, handouts, assessments, rubrics, and graphic organizers designed to support students with a diversity of educational experiences and needs. The integrated assessment system centered around the literacy skills and academic habits allows for the coherent evaluation of student literacy development over the course of the year and vertically across all grade levels.

Frontiers of Language and Teaching: Proceedings of the 2010 International Online Language Conference (IOLC 2010) Azadeh Shafaei, 2010-12-27

This collection is comprised of papers submitted to the 3rd International Online Language Conference (IOLC) held in September 2010. IOLC 2010 was a two-day conference which aimed to provide a forum for academics, practitioners, experts, and students to debate current international issues and challenges in the broad area of language learning and teaching. This annual world-renowned conference takes place over the internet, allowing participants to save accommodation and flight expenses and, at the same time, helping to save our planet by reducing CO₂ emissions. All submitted papers went through a double-blind review process before a decision was made. This was to ensure the quality level of the conference is kept high.

Mathematics for Social Justice: Resources for the College Classroom Gizem Karaali, Lily S. Khadjavi, 2019-07-09

Mathematics for Social Justice offers a collection of resources for mathematics faculty interested in incorporating questions of social justice into their classrooms. The book begins with a series of essays from instructors experienced in integrating social justice themes into their pedagogy; these essays contain political and pedagogical motivations as well as nuts and bolts teaching advice. The heart of the book is a collection of fourteen classroom-tested modules featuring ready-to-use activities and investigations for the college mathematics classroom. The mathematical tools and techniques used are relevant to a wide variety of courses including college algebra, math for the liberal arts, calculus, differential equations, discrete mathematics, geometry, financial mathematics, and combinatorics. The social justice themes include human trafficking, income inequality, environmental justice, gerrymandering, voting methods, and access to education. The volume editors are leaders of the national movement to include social justice material into mathematics teaching. Gizem Karaali is Associate Professor of Mathematics at Pomona College. She is one of the founding editors of The Journal of Humanistic Mathematics and an associate editor for The Mathematical Intelligencer and Numeracy; she also serves on the editorial board of the MAA's Carus Mathematical Monographs. Lily Khadjavi is Associate Professor of Mathematics at Loyola Marymount University and is a past co-chair of the Infinite Possibilities Conference. She has served on the boards of Building Diversity in Science, the Barbara Jordan Bayard Rustin Coalition, and the Harvard Gender and Sexuality Caucus.

Engagement Mary P. Sheridan, Megan J. Bardolph, Megan Faver Hartline, Drew Holladay, 2018-05-07 Engagement is trendy. Although paired most often with community, diverse invocations of engagement have gained cache, capturing longstanding shifts toward new practices of knowledge making that both reflect and facilitate multiple ways of being an academic. Engagement functions as a gloss for these shifts, addressing more expansive understandings of where, how, and with whom we research, teach, and partner. This book examines these shifts, locating them within socio-economic trends within and beyond the higher educational landscape, with particular focus on how they have been enacted within the diverse subfields of writing studies. In so doing, this book provides concrete models for enacting these new responsive practices, thereby encouraging scholars to examine how they can facilitate writing for social action through taking positions, building relationships, and crossing boundaries.

Exploring Language Variation, Diversity and Change Marinela Burada, Oana Tatu, Raluca Sinu, 2021-07-23 While communication is becoming increasingly multimodal, verbal language and its use in different communicative situations still hold centre stage in many research circles. The articles in this book explore native and second languages from three vantage points: syntactic structure, their uses in professional settings, and second foreign language pedagogy. Using different methods and methodologies, the contributions here draw on both theoretical and empirical data in order to investigate a series of language internal and language external factors that both account for the structural peculiarities of Romanian and English and have a bearing on its translatability and learnability by students of English as a second language Featuring the hands on experience of teachers and learners in the Romanian context this volume provides useful insights and illustrative examples of relevance to theorists and practitioners in language and communication related fields
