Report:

The purpose of the Salts & Solubility Recreation is to permit understudies to investigate how distinctive salts break up in the water and how components such as temperature and concentration influence the solvency of salts. Through the reenactment, understudies can control different factors and watch the impacts on the disintegration preparation, making a difference in them getting a handle on the basic standards of solvency and arrangement.

The conclusion is that different salts have shifting degrees of solvency in water. A few salts break down promptly, whereas others have restricted solvency or may not break down at all beneath certain conditions.

The screenshot shows the PhET Salts & Solubility simulation window. The title bar reads "Salts & Solubility (1.06)". The interface includes a menu bar with "Table Salt", "Slightly Soluble Salts", and "Design a Salt". The main area displays a beaker of water with a faucet on the left and a salt container above it. The water level is indicated by a vertical scale on the right, ranging from  $1.0 \times 10^{-23}$  to  $8.0 \times 10^{-23}$ . The right panel shows the "Salt" settings, with "Sodium" and "Chloride" selected. The "Dissolved" and "Bound" values are both 0, and the "Total" is 24. The "Water" volume is set to  $7.125 \times 10^{-23}$  liters (L). A "Reset All" button is located below the water volume field. The bottom of the window features a play/pause button and a close button.
