Exploring Caste and Sexuality in Indian English Writing Lucky Issar, 2024-01-16 Exploring Caste and Sexuality in Indian English Writing Outcast Subcultures examines the ways in which caste intersects and shapes matters of desire gender religion and language It demonstrates how postcolonial upper caste theorists and fiction writers obscure caste and when they do discuss it they seem to reinforce it Dominant brahminic discourse discusses issues concerning women s rights equality justice and neocolonialism but ignores caste based discrimination and exclusion and the practice of untouchability which are everyday occurrences in Indian life To understand the brahminic obsession with caste and sexuality this book examines the works of Arundhati Roy V S Naipaul R K Narayan and M K Gandhi making a compelling argument that the freedom of choice in matters of sexuality was not unknown in medieval and ancient India If the urban elite pursues desire freely today so did the upper caste men and women of Vatsyana s time Unlike the upper caste elite caste regulated ordinary people or Dalits then just as it regulates them now which suggests how the brahminic elite in different epochs creates non normative spaces for itself without giving up caste order

Re-Inventing the Postcolonial (in the) Metropolis Cecile Sandten, Annika Bauer, 2016-09-27. The notion of the postcolonial metropolis has gained prominence in the last two decades both within and beyond postcolonial studies. Disciplines such as sociology and urban studies, however, have tended to focus on the economic inequalities, class disparities and other structural and formative aspects of the postcolonial metropolises that are specific to Western conceptions of the city at large. It is only recently that the depiction of postcolonial metropolises has been addressed in the writings of Suketu Mehta, Chris Abani, Amit Chaudhuri, Salman Rushdie, Aravind Adiga, Helon Habila, Sefi Atta and Zakes Mda among others. Most of these works probe the urban specifics and physical and cultural topographies of postcolonial cities while highlighting their agential capacity to defy, appropriate and abrogate the superimposition of theories of Western modernity and urbanism. These ASNEL Papers are all concerned with the idea of the postcolonial in the metropolis from various disciplinary viewpoints as drawn from a great range of cityscapes spread out over five continents. The essays explore on the one hand ideas of spatial subdivision and inequality, political repression, social discrimination, economic exploitation and cultural alienation and on the other the possibility of transforming, reinventing and reconfiguring the postcolonial condition in and through literary texts and visual narratives. In this context, the volume covers a broad spectrum of theoretical and thematic approaches to postcolonial and metropolitan topographies and their depictions in writings from Australia and New Zealand, South Africa, South Asia and greater Asia as well as the UK, addressing issues such as modernity and market economies but also caste, class and social and linguistic aspects. At the same time, they reflect on the postcolonial metropolis and postcolonialism in the metropolis by concentrating on an urban imaginary which turns on notions of spatial subdivision and inequality, political repression, social discrimination, economic exploitation and cultural alienation as the continuing postcolonial condition.

Becoming Young Men in a New India Shannon Philip, 2022-08-25. Becoming Young Men in a New India tells the gendered story of a changing India through the lives of its young middle-class men. Through time spent ethnographically hanging out with young men in gyms, bars, clubs, trains and gay cruising grounds in India, this book critically reveals Indian men's violence towards women in various city spaces and also shows the many classed and masculine entitlements and challenges that they experience. The book lays bare the often secretive and hidden social worlds of young

Indian men and critically analyses the impact young men s actions and identities have not just for themselves but for the many women they encounter In this way it puts forward a critical queer feminist perspective of men and masculinities in postcolonial India where the politics of class gender sexuality violence and urban spaces come together Recognizing Connectedness Rajib Nandi,Ratna M. Sudarshan,2021-09-17 The concept of programme evaluation now more than half a century old refers to the practice of professional assessment of a programme that is informed by evidence and guided by evaluative thinking to arrive at a judgement about value merit worth significance and utility Good programme evaluations in general adopt an inclusive development approach rather than a transformative approach Feminist evaluations by contrast identify a wide range of stakeholders and engage the larger community in order to identify and encourage the programme to challenge social norms that perpetuate inequalities between men and women and other genders The essays in this volume in different ways suggest that gender transformative change cannot happen through the actions or exercise of agency by one group alone whether it is girls or boys or women Instead the authors draw out the importance of connectedness between groups of people and between individual agents and the larger structures within which they are located In doing so they apply a feminist lens to a range of programme evaluations and policies at both the national level and at the level of specific states Uttarakhand Delhi Bihar Haryana Rajasthan and Tamil Nadu Feminist Psychologies U. Vindhya,2024-04-03 This book aims to be a comprehensive resource that will apprise readers of the complex dynamics of the psychological interiors of women and others in the sex and gender spectrum as they grapple with sociopolitical and cultural constraints Going beyond the ambit of mainstream psychology this volume draws from interdisciplinary fields of women s gender studies to highlight power imbalances their intersectional nature and the ways in which they shape the psychology of gender relations The book illuminates three focal themes of identities well being and relations which illustrate the psychological contextualised in the backdrop of social political and cultural developments in contemporary India The first theme explores the building of identities in the changing dynamics of work family interfaces non normative sexualities and genders and the intersections of caste gender and social hierarchies The second theme focuses on the gendering of mental health including the intervention of feminist counselling The third theme highlights conceptualisations and practices of masculinities and the role of agency empowerment and collective action in the pathways to equitable gender relations and social transformation This book will be of interest to students teachers researchers of psychology and of women s gender studies It will also be useful for anyone who is interested to learn about recent psychological scholarship in India informed and imbued with a feminist perspective on women as well as other genders
