The Oxford Handbook of Medieval Literature in English Elaine Treharne, Greg Walker, William Green, 2010-04-15 Bringing together the insights of new fields and approaches with those of more familiar texts and methods this handbook provides a comprehensive overview of the state of Medieval Literature today It discusses texts such as Beowulf Wulf and Eadwacer and Ancrene Wisse and authors from Ifric to Chaucer Langland and the Gawain Poet Landmarks in the History of the English Language Keith Johnson, 2024-03-12 Landmarks in the History of the English Language identifies twelve key landmarks spread throughout the language's history to provide a lively and interesting introduction to the history of English. Each landmark focuses on one individual associated with the key moment which helps to engage the reader and provide the history of the language with a human face. The landmarks range from Alfred the Great and his attempts to further English through its use in education to the spread of English worldwide and the work of the linguist Braj Kachru. The final chapter takes a look into the future through the writings of David Crystal. Whilst focusing on the specific events and people, the book includes a broad outline of the history of English so that the reader can locate each landmark within the language's history. Written in a student-friendly style and with short activities available online, this book provides a brief introduction for those coming to the topic for the first time as well as an engaging supplementary text for those studying modules on the history of English on degrees in English Language, Linguistics and Literature. General readers with an interest in the English language and its history will also find the book engaging.

The Beginning Angelica Cortez, 2014-11-19 Within these pages are a few of my first completed pieces of writing. The intention of these writing pieces is to get my voice heard without being physically verbal but verbal with my words on a page. I had previously shared writings such as these with others and now I get to share my thoughts with the rest of the world. I had worked with a group of amazing people to create poems out of how we feel and whatever comes to mind. This is my gift to all you avid readers and surely there is more to come. All voices should be heard no matter how big or small.

Forms of English History in Literature, Landscape, and Architecture J. Twynning, 2012-10-15 An exploration of the way English literature has interacted with architectural edifices and the development of landscape as a national style from the Middle Ages to the 19th Century. Analyzing texts in relation to cultural artefacts, each chapter demonstrates the self-conscious production of English consciousness as its most enduring history.

Women's Identities and Bodies in Colonial and Postcolonial History and Literature Maria Isabel Romero Ruiz, 2012-01-17 Since the second half of the twentieth century, there has been a commitment on the part of women writers and scholars to revise and rewrite the history and culture of colonial and post-colonial women. This collection intends to enter a forum of discussion in which the colonial past serves as a point of reference for the analysis of contemporary issues. This volume will examine topics of women's identities and bodies through literary representations and historical accounts. In other words, the aim is to reconstruct women's identities through the representations of their bodies in literature and to analyse women's bodies historically as sites of abuse, discrimination and violence on the one hand and of knowledge and cultural production on the other. The chapters of this book will contribute to the formation of a new representation of women through history and literature which fights traditional stereotypes in relation to their bodies and identities. Focusing on female bodies as maternal bodies as repositories of history and memory as sexual bodies as healing bodies as performative of gender as black bodies as migrant and hybrid bodies as the objects of regulation and control and as victims of sexual exploitation and murder, the different articles contained in this book will examine issues of space, power, knowledge, relations, discrimination, the production of knowledge gender and boundaries to produce new identities for women which contest and respond to the traditional ones The volume is addressed to a wide readership both scholars and those interested in investigating the dynamics of the female body and the social and cultural conceptualizations of our multicultural and multiethnic contemporary societies in relation to it without forgetting the historical and colonial roots of these new representations
