Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 10 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. The subjects were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of 30 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic exercise. The control group consisted of three sessions per week of 30 minutes of low-intensity aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week training program. The HR and EE were significantly higher in the training group than in the control group at the end of the 10-week training program. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the HR and EE of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
  - 1. Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
  - 2. Avoid excessive light intensity, the length of the day and the light spectrum (the color of the light) are important.
- The end of the day is the best time to change the light spectrum. The producer should be looking for the color of the light to be similar to the color of the sky at the end of the day. The light should be similar to the color of the sky at the end of the day. The light should be similar to the color of the sky at the end of the day.
