

THE ARGUMENTATIVE ESSAY

Writing which expresses the author's opinions and argues in favor of them is argumentative writing. Newspaper editorials and the commentaries of some television and radio personalities are often argumentative. Students occasionally use argumentative writing on class tests when asked to give an opinion and to support it with facts learned in the course. The purpose of argumentative writing is to persuade.

An argumentative essay usually begins with a statement of opinion to be supported by paragraphs. This statement is the central idea or thesis. There are several ways to support opinion. Perhaps the most commonly used is the listing of facts or examples (evidence) in support of opinion. A writer may also prove a point by giving reasonable arguments reached through logical thinking. (Note that an argument differs from an opinion because an opinion is based solely on personal judgment while an argument is based on logical reasoning.) A combination of evidence and reasonable arguments is the most effective way to develop the essay. At the end of the essay, the writer must add a summarizing paragraph (conclusion) to clinch important points.

Following is the order of ideas in an argumentative essay from lesser to greater importance, saving the most powerful arguments and most convincing evidence until last, the climax.

Introductory Paragraph	→	State argument.
1st Body Paragraph	→	Recognize opposition.
2nd Body Paragraph	→	Build up case. Use facts, logic, authorities. Include sources in support of theme whenever possible. Use direct quotes, if possible.
Last Body Paragraph	→	State most powerful argument. Include emotion, if necessary.
Concluding Paragraph	→	Summarize and restate argument.

GUIDELINES FOR AN EFFECTIVE ARGUMENT

1. Avoid a one-sided or biased argument. Anticipate realistic objections, giving the opposition a fair representation, by examining both pros and cons of your thesis.
2. Have a clear and unambiguous thesis statement. Make sure that the reader is not confused by an overly general thesis.
3. Write an objective thesis statement. A subjective thesis (or an I believe statement) will not convince your reader of anything but your opinion.
4. Avoid controversial supporting arguments. A thesis supported by "hot" topics will not be taken seriously by the reader.
5. Express ideas as solid statements, not questions. Opponents will have answers for questions.
6. When including quotations, use neutral sources for evidence. A biased source will not be recognized by the opposition.
7. Avoid hasty generalizations (conclusions based on insufficient or biased evidence), red herrings (diversionary tactics that avoid the key issues), and other logical fallacies (or errors in reasoning). For more information on logical fallacies, please see an LTC tutor.
7. Avoid hasty generalizations (conclusions based on insufficient or biased evidence), red herrings (diversionary tactics that avoid the key issues), and other logical fallacies (or errors in reasoning). For more information on logical fallacies, please see an LTC tutor.

The Writing Revolution Judith C. Hochman, Natalie Wexler, 2017-07-27 Why you need a writing revolution in your classroom and how to lead it The Writing Revolution TWR provides a clear method of instruction that you can use no matter what subject or grade level you teach The model also known as The Hochman Method has demonstrated over and over that it can turn weak writers into strong communicators by focusing on specific techniques that match their needs and by providing them with targeted feedback Insurmountable as the challenges faced by many students may seem The Writing Revolution can make a dramatic difference And the method does more than improve writing skills It also helps Boost reading comprehension Improve organizational and study skills Enhance speaking abilities Develop analytical capabilities The Writing Revolution is as much a method of teaching content as it is a method of teaching writing There s no separate writing block and no separate writing curriculum Instead teachers of all subjects adapt the TWR strategies and activities to their current curriculum and weave them into their content instruction But perhaps what s most revolutionary about the TWR method is that it takes the mystery out of learning to write well It breaks the writing process down into manageable chunks and then has students practice the chunks they need repeatedly while also learning content

Argumentative Writing in a Second Language Alan R. Hirvela, Diane Belcher, 2021-12-13 Argumentative Writing in a Second Language is a collection on teaching argumentative writing offering multiple vantage points drawn from the contributors own teaching and research experiences The value of learning how to compose argumentative texts cannot be overstated and yet very little attention has been allocated to the equally important topic of how argumentation is or can be taught in the L2 context Thus this volume shifts attention to teachers and argumentative writing instruction especially within increasingly common multimodal and digital literacy settings While doing so it provides a comprehensive wide ranging view of the L2 argumentative writing landscape within an instructional lens Part I of the volume is topic oriented and focuses on explorations of important issues and perspectives while Part II features several chapters reporting classroom based studies of a variety of instructional approaches that expand our understanding of how argumentative writing can be taught The book will be of value to pre service and in service teachers in varying instructional contexts as well as teacher educators and L2 writing scholars researchers
