Paper 3 (HL)

Paper 3 - Social enterprises (HL only)

Exhibit 5: Social enterprises: A hybrid spectrum. Source adapted from J. Kingdon (Venturesome, C&P Venturesome, and European Venture Philanthropy Association (2013))

Source: TradeKindness

Paper 3 (1 hour and 15 minutes)

Paper 3 (HL only) is based on unseen stimulus material about a social enterprise. The purpose is to assess important business management knowledge and skills (such as strategic analysis and evaluation) within the context of a social enterprise as a business entity. Paper 3 is forward-looking, providing students the opportunity to develop and demonstrate their problem solving abilities and decision making skills.

The rationale for the specific focus on social enterprises is in line with the objectives of the new course (to enable students to develop as confident, creative and compassionate business leaders, entrepreneurs, social entrepreneurs and as change agents, page 17 of the guide). It also aligns well with the CAS programme as well as the IB mission statement.

Paper 3 HI May 2013 File:

Canada's Residential Schools: Missing Children and Unmarked Burials Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission s final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada s Residential Schools Missing Children and Unmarked Burials is the first systematic effort to record and analyze deaths at the schools and the presence and condition of student cemeteries within the regulatory context in which the schools were intended to operate As part of its work the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada established a National Residential School Student Death Register Due to gaps in the available data the register is far from complete Although the actual number of deaths is believed to be far higher 3 200 residential school victims have been identified The analysis also demonstrates that residential school death rates were significantly higher than those for the general Canadian school aged population The failure to establish and enforce adequate standards of care coupled with the failure to adequately fund the schools resulted in unnecessarily high death rates at residential schools Senior government and church officials were well aware of the schools ongoing failure to provide adequate levels of custodial care Children who died at the schools were rarely sent back to their home community They were usually buried in school or nearby mission cemeteries As the schools and missions closed these cemeteries were abandoned While in a number of instances Aboriginal communities churches and former staff have taken steps to rehabilitate cemeteries and commemorate the individuals buried there most of these cemeteries are now disused and vulnerable to accidental disturbance In the face of this abandonment the TRC is proposing the development of a national strategy for the documentation maintenance commemoration and protection of residential school cemeteries

Radio Access Networks Hrishikesh Venkataraman, Ramona Trestian, 2017-03-16 C RAN and virtualized Small Cell technology poses several major research challenges These include dynamic resource allocation self configuration in the baseband pool high latency in data transfer between radio unit and baseband unit the cost of data delivery high volume of data in the network software networking aspects potential energy savings security concerns privacy of user s personal data at a remote place limitations of virtualized environment etc This book provides deeper insights into the next generation RAN architecture and surveys the coexistence of SDN C RAN and Small Cells solutions proposed in the literature at different levels The Stationery Office Annual Catalogue Stationery Office (Great Britain), 2016 Carbon Politics and the Failure of the Kyoto Protocol Gerald Kutney, 2014-02-03 Carbon Politics and the Failure of Kyoto charts the framework and political evolution of the Kyoto Protocol negotiations and examines the ensuing failure of the international community to adequately address climate change. The focus is not on the science or consequences of climate change but on the political gamesmanship of the major players throughout the UNFCCC negotiation process. More than an updated history of the subject matter, this book provides a detailed study of the carbon targets which became the biggest influencing factor on the reaction of nations to Kyoto's binding agreements. The book provides an in-depth analysis of the leading nations' motives, including the US, China, and Germany, in entering the negotiations, in particular their economic interests. Despite the effort to combat climate change in politics, that the negotiations represent, the book concludes that an agreement which requires almost 200 very different nations to agree on a single protocol is doomed to failure. The book offers a novel contribution to our understanding of this failure and suggests alternative frameworks and policies to tackle what is arguably the most complex political issue of our time.

Handbook of Research on In-Country Determinants and Implications of Foreign Land Acquisitions

Osabuohien, Evans, 2014-12-31. Several studies have investigated the impetus and implications behind large-scale land acquisitions deals at the global level; however, intranational factors within communities and societies have not received much attention from researchers. The Handbook of Research on In-Country Determinants and Implications of Foreign Land Acquisitions examines the economic, sociological, and environmental issues surrounding land transactions and the impact these deals may have on local households and communities. Focusing on international issues as well as domestic concerns, this publication is a useful reference for policymakers, academics, researchers, and advanced-level students in various disciplines.

Comparative Renewables Policy Elin Lerum Boasson, Merethe Dotterud Leiren, Jørgen

Wettestad, 2020-10-29. Challenging one-eyed technology-focused accounts of renewables policy, this book provides a ground-breaking, deep-diving, and genre-crossing longitudinal study of policy development. The book develops a multi-field explanatory approach capturing interrelationships between actors often analyzed in isolation. It provides empirically rich and systematically conducted comparative case studies on the political dynamics of the ongoing energy transition in six European countries. While France, Germany, Poland, and the United Kingdom opted for technology-specific renewables support mixes, Norway and Sweden embarked on technology-neutral support mixes. Differences between the two groups result from variations in domestic political and organizational fields, but developments over time in the European environment also spurred variation. These findings challenge more simplistic and static accounts of Europeanization. This volume will be of key interest to scholars and students of energy transitions, comparative climate politics, policy theory, Europeanization, European integration, and comparative European politics, more broadly, as well as practitioners with an interest in renewable energy and climate transition.
