Paper On Global Warming:

The Warming Papers David Archer, Raymond Pierrehumbert, 2013-04-29 Chosen for the 2011 ASLI Choice Honorable Mention History Category for a compendium of the key scientific papers that undergird the global warming forecast Global warming is arguably the defining scientific issue of modern times but it is not widely appreciated that the foundations of our understanding were laid almost two centuries ago with the postulation of a greenhouse effect by Fourier in 1827 The sensitivity of climate to changes in atmospheric CO₂ was first estimated about one century ago and the rise in atmospheric CO₂ concentration was discovered half a century ago The fundamentals of the science underlying the forecast for human induced climate change were being published and debated long before the issue rose to public prominence in the last few decades The Warming Papers is a compendium of the classic scientific papers that constitute the foundation of the global warming forecast The paper trail ranges from Fourier and Arrhenius in the 19th Century to Manabe and Hansen in modern times Archer and Pierrehumbert provide introductions and commentary which places the papers in their context and provide students with tools to develop and extend their understanding of the subject The book captures the excitement and the uncertainty that always exist at the cutting edge of research and is invaluable reading for students of climate science scientists historians of science and others interested in climate change

The Real Global Warming Disaster

Christopher Booker, 2013-01-31 Booker focuses his attention on the mother of all environmental scares global warming This original book considers one of the most extraordinary scientific and political stories of our time how in the 1980s a handful of scientists came to believe that mankind faced catastrophe from runaway global warming and how today this has persuaded politicians to land us with what promises to be the biggest bill in history Christopher Booker interweaves the science of global warming with that of its growing political consequences showing how just when the politicians are threatening to change our Western way of life beyond recognition the scientific evidence behind the global warming theory is being challenged like never before The book exposes the myth that the global warming theory is supported by a consensus of the world's top climate scientists It shows how the UN's Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change is run by a small group of global warming zealots who have repeatedly rigged evidence to support their theory But the politicians pushed by the media have so fallen for its propaganda that short of dramatic change our Western world now faces an unprecedented disaster

Climate Change: Myths and Realities , Four Degrees of Global Warming Peter Christoff,2013-10-15 At Copenhagen in December 2009 the international community agreed to limit global warming to below two degrees Celsius to avoid the worst impacts of human induced climate change However climate scientists agree that current national emissions targets collectively will still not achieve this goal Instead the ambition gap between climate science and climate policy is likely to lead to average global warming of around four degrees Celsius by or before 2100 If a Four Degree World is the de facto goal of policy we urgently need to understand what this world might look like Four Degrees of Global Warming Australia in a Hot World outlines the expected consequences of this world for Australia and its region Its contributors include many of Australia s most eminent and internationally recognized climate scientists climate policy makers and policy analysts They provide an accessible detailed dramatic and disturbing examination of the likely impacts of a Four Degree World on Australia s social economic and ecological systems The book offers policy makers politicians students and anyone interested climate change access to the most recent research on potential Australian impacts of global warming and possible responses

Climatology versus Pseudoscience Dana Nuccitelli, 2015-03-03 This book explains the science of climate change in plain language and shows that the 2 to 4 percent of climate scientists who are skeptical that humans are the main cause of global warming are a fringe minority and have a well established history of being wrong Although some politicians pundits and members of the public do not believe it global warming predictions by mainstream climate scientists have been remarkably accurate while those made by climate deniers have not And if mainstream global warming predictions continue to prove correct the window of opportunity to prevent a climate catastrophe is quickly closing This book is the first to illustrate the accuracy and inaccuracy of global warming predictions made by mainstream climate scientists and by climate contrarians from the 1970s to the present day Written in simple non technical language that provides an accessible explanation of key climate science concepts the book will appeal to general audiences without previous knowledge about climate science Author Dana Nuccitelli an environmental scientist and risk assessor discusses some key climate discoveries dating back to the 19th century and debunks myths such as the idea that climate scientists and climate models have grossly over predicted global warming He addresses recent findings of a 97 percent consensus in the peer reviewed scientific literature that humans are causing global warming a nearly unanimous agreement that formed in the early 1990s and has grown through the present day Nuccitelli also discusses what the future climate might look like if current trends continue unabated and what we as a global society need to do to prevent a climate catastrophe
