Paper On The Environment:

The U.S. Paper Industry and Sustainable Production Maureen Smith, 1997 Smith's book is an entirely credible and comprehensive plan for restructuring an entire industrial sector toward ecological imperatives. Its scope and attention to detail will lead to widespread acceptance of the challenge and the practical initiatives required for success. Paul Hawken, author The Ecology of Commerce, 'The problems recyclers face with wastepaper are connected to the issues addressed by forest advocates as well as to the difficulties confronted by those involved with industrial pollution from the paper industry. In this richly detailed study Maureen Smith shows how industrial and environmental analysis can be synthesized to clarify these complex problems and produce solutions. Smith outlines the basic structural characteristics of the U.S. pulp and paper industry and its relationship to the larger forest products sector as well as its patterns of domestic and global fiber resource use. She then reviews the core technologies employed in virgin pulp production with an emphasis on their environmental impacts, the role of technological innovation and the relationships between fiber choices and pollution prevention. Building on this base, she reveals structural barriers within the industry that have impeded positive change and shows how these barriers are reinforced by the traditional isolation of environmental policy domains. The study includes a comparative analysis of how organochlorine pollution from pulp mills has been addressed in the United States, Europe, and Canada and why the United States has seen the slowest rate of progress; an assessment of commodity trade patterns in the industry and how they are linked to resource demand; an examination of the momentum building around annual plant fiber use and the diverse interests it reflects; and a review of recent developments in paper recycling within the context of historical trends in fiber utilization. A case study of the controversial environmental review process of the largest recycled pulp and paper mill ever proposed ties together earlier elements of the book and forms the basis for the conclusions. In closing, Smith argues convincingly against narrowly focused attempts to fix the problems associated with the industry and offers practical guidance on new frameworks and approaches for industrial restructuring. She highlights the need for regional perspectives that integrate environmental, social, and economic objectives.' Urban and Industrial Environment series Environmental Health Perspectives, 1986

Environment Impact Assessment K. M. Baharul Islam, Zafar Mahfooz Nomani, 2021-06-23 Environment Impact Assessment Precept Practice deals with theoretical, practical, managerial, and legal issues in multidisciplinary holism to suit Indian environmental planning and governance. Environment Impact Assessment is not only considered a tool for sustainable development but a promissory augury of creation of equitable regime of ecosystem governance. The book is laced with polemical issues in dexterous detail to cater erudite demand of environmental planners besides fulfilling the void of curriculum and pedagogic requirements of technical universities, environmental management, and legal studies. The book offers diversity of thoughts across discipline on Environment Impact Assessment discourse in rounded perspective, having immense potential for textual and reference utilities. The treatment of subject is not only discursive but paradigmatic to eradicate contemporary crisis in Environment Impact Assessment regime It combines theoretical postulate with deeper empiricism and penetrative case studies to make an intriguing subject of Environment Impact Assessment with greater ease and lucidity Note T F does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka
