Cognition Distributed Itiel E. Dror,Stevan R. Harnad,2008 Our species has been a maker and user of tools for over two million years but cognitive technology began with language Cognition is thinking and thinking has been distributed for at least the two hundred millennia that we have been using speech to interact and collaborate allowing us to do collectively far more than any of us could have done individually The invention of writing six millennia ago and print six centuries ago has distributed cognition still more widely and quickly among people as well as their texts But in recent decades something radically new has been happening Advanced cognitive technologies especially computers and the Worldwide Web are beginning to redistribute cognition in unprecedented ways not only among people and static texts but among people and dynamical machines This not only makes possible new forms of human collaboration but new forms of cognition This book examines the nature and prospects of distributed cognition providing a conceptual framework for understanding it and showcasing case studies of its development This volume was originally published as a Special Issue of Pragmatics Cognition 14 2 2006
