The Sex Offender Register Terry Thomas, Daniel Marshall, 2021-04-11 The Sex Offender Register examines the origins history structure and legalities of the UK sex offender register and explores how political and public opinion has influenced the direction the policy of registration has taken Delving into the origins of the UK sex offender register and how the registration policy has evolved this book provides an understanding of the register and its contribution to public protection while attempting to see the register as a policy that has grown and developed and as having an organic life of its own The sex offender register is designed as a form of public protection rather than a punishment requiring offenders to notify the police of their circumstances and to accept a degree of offender management from the police The book puts the development of the register in its political social and ethical context considers the position of children and young people as offenders outlines the movement of registered offenders across international borders analyses how offenders can be removed from the register explores how other countries in the UK manage sex offenders through registers asks questions about the efficacy of the register and what contribution it makes to public protection looks at specific aspects of registration including the management of information delves into the experience of life on the register examines the influence of public opinion discusses the role of the police as custodians of the register and as offender managers Exploring the different pressures brought to bear on the register this book provides an authoritative starting point for police officers social workers probation officers magistrates students of Criminology Criminal Justice and Policing and the general reader wanting to understand where the UK sex offender register originated from and how it operates today The Stationery Office Annual Catalogue

Stationery Office (Great Britain), 2016 Canada's Residential Schools: Missing Children and Unmarked Burials

Commission de vérité et réconciliation du Canada, 2016-01-01 Between 1867 and 2000 the Canadian government sent over 150 000 Aboriginal children to residential schools across the country Government officials and missionaries agreed that in order to civilize and Christianize Aboriginal children it was necessary to separate them from their parents and their home communities For children life in these schools was lonely and alien Discipline was harsh and daily life was highly regimented Aboriginal languages and cultures were denigrated and suppressed Education and technical training too often gave way to the drudgery of doing the chores necessary to make the schools self sustaining Child neglect was institutionalized and the lack of supervision created situations where students were prey to sexual and physical abusers Legal action by the schools former students led to the creation of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada in 2008 The product of over six years of research the Commission's final report outlines the history and legacy of the schools and charts a pathway towards reconciliation Canada's Residential Schools Missing Children and Unmarked Burials is the first systematic effort to record and analyze deaths at the schools and the presence and condition of student cemeteries within the regulatory context in which the schools were intended to operate As part of its work the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada established a National Residential School Student Death Register Due to gaps in the available data the register is far from complete Although the actual number of deaths is believed to be far higher 3 200 residential school victims have been identified The analysis also demonstrates that residential school death rates were significantly higher than those for the general Canadian school aged population The failure to establish and enforce adequate standards of care coupled with the failure to adequately fund the schools resulted in unnecessarily high death rates at residential schools Senior government and church officials were well aware of the schools ongoing failure to provide adequate levels of custodial care Children who died at the schools were rarely sent back to their home community They were usually buried in school or nearby mission cemeteries As the schools and missions closed these cemeteries were abandoned While in a number of instances Aboriginal communities churches and former staff have taken steps to rehabilitate cemeteries and commemorate the individuals buried there most of these cemeteries are now disused and vulnerable to accidental disturbance In the face of this abandonment the TRC is proposing the development of a national strategy for the documentation maintenance commemoration and protection of residential school cemeteries

From Cabin 'Boys' to Captains Jo Stanley, 2016-04-04 Traditionally a woman's place was never on stormy seas But actually thousands of dancers purserettes doctors stewardesses captains and conductresses have taken to the waves on everything from floating palaces to battered windjammers Their daring story is barely known even by today's seawomen From before the 1750s women fancying an oceangoing life had either to disguise themselves as cabin boys or acquire a co-operative husband with a ship attached Early pioneers faced superstition and discrimination in the briny monasteries Today women captain cruise ships as big as towns and work at the highest level in the global maritime industry This comprehensive exploration looks at the Merchant Navy comparing it to the Royal Navy in which Wrens only began sailing in 1991 Using a wide variety of interviews and sources Jo Stanley vividly reveals the incredible journey across time taken by these brave and lively women salts

Bank Politics David Howarth, Scott James, 2022-11-03 The problem of banks being too big to fail was the defining regulatory issue of the global financial crisis However attempts to tackle the problem by separating retail banking from higher risk trading activities known as structural reform proved to be highly divisive and contributed to significant regulatory divergence In this book David Howarth and Scott James explain this variation by examining the politics of bank structural reform across six key jurisdictions the United States the European Union the United Kingdom France Germany and the Netherlands Integrating political economy and public policy approaches they develop a novel comparative financial power framework to analyse how financial industry influence is mediated by two factors first whether bank lobbying is unified and centralized cooperative financial power or divided and fragmented competitive financial power and second policy makers use of venue shifting to depoliticize contentious policy issues The book explains that the US and UK governments implemented major reforms because the banking industry was divided and faced significant opposition However venue shifting to an independent committee led to durable reform in the UK while political polarization in the US contributed to contested reform By contrast the French and German governments balanced unified bank lobbying and political pressures to act by pursuing limited symbolic reforms the Dutch government deflected the issue through delegation to multiple commissions no reform while political stalemate at the EU level resulted from early venue shifting and concerted pan European bank lobbying The book makes a major contribution to scholarship on the political economy of finance and business power World Cities and Nation States Greg Clark,Tim Moonen,2016-11-10 World Cities and Nation States takes a global perspective to show how national governments and states provinces regions continue to play a decisive and often positive partnership role with world cities The 16 chapter book comprised of two introductory chapters 12 central chapters that draw on case studies and two summary chapters draws on over 40 interviews with national ministers city government officials business leaders and expert academics

Controversies in Public Health and Health Policy Jan Kirk Carney,2015-07-20 This unique text engages students in learning about public health and health policy through a study of current controversies The textbook uses a structured format to examine each controversy with discussion questions and additional learning resources Many issues connect public health and health care an important perspective given the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and health system changes at the state level To get to the root of the controversy and gain insight as to what must be done to advance the health issue learners must grasp the breadth and scope of the issue and evidence base for prevention dissect out root causes and barriers then propose strategies for progress Some of the topics covered include the acceptance of obesity as a cultural norm e cigarettes binge drinking on college campuses prescription drug abuse antibiotic resistance gun control preventing concussions climate change and more Publisher Transformative Perspectives and Processes in Higher Education Amber Dailey-Hebert,Kay S. Dennis,2014-11-07 This book aims to provide insight into the complexities confronting higher education today and to highlight tangible opportunities that exist to address such issues We are in a constant state of flux and higher education needs to respond in more proactive intentional and innovative ways to remain a relevant cornerstone to society and culture The editors begin by asking how our collective reality might change if the complexity and uncertainty surrounding us were embraced and leveraged to serve the learner and society as a whole They invite the reader to explore collaborative approaches to individualized learning pathways networked learning and a reimagined ecosystem of academia The chapters are arranged to inform the reader seeking knowledge on how to 1 reshape and redefine the 21st century university with its evolving role in these transformative times 2 design and implement courses that address the changing needs of the university and the non traditional student and 3 utilize research on innovative strategies with processes that promote organizational learning The chapters profile the fluid nature of learning as it evolves in higher education and the workplace often with a blurred line separating the two environments Exciting ideas related to heutagogy problem based learning innovative constructivist strategies authentic learning and self regulated learning all converge in this volume Federal Register ,1975 The Mekong: A Socio-legal Approach to River Basin

Development Ben Boer, Philip Hirsch, Fleur Johns, Ben Saul, Natalia Scurrah, 2015-12-22 An international river basin is an ecological system an economic thoroughfare a geographical area a font of life and livelihoods a geopolitical network and often a cultural icon It is also a socio legal phenomenon This book is the first detailed study of an international river basin from a socio legal perspective The Mekong River Basin which sustains approximately 70 million people across Cambodia China Laos Myanmar Thailand and Vietnam provides a prime example of the socio legal complexities of governing a transboundary river and its tributaries The book applies its socio legal analysis to bring a fresh approach to understanding conflicts surrounding water governance in the Mekong River Basin The authors describe the wide range of uses being made of legal doctrine and legal argument in ongoing disputes surrounding hydropower development in the Basin putting to rest lingering caricatures of a single ASEAN way of navigating conflict They call into question some of the common assumptions concerning the relationship between law and development The book also sheds light on important questions concerning the global hybridization or crossover of public and private power and its ramifications for water governance With current debates and looming conflicts over water governance globally and over shared rivers in particular these issues could not be more pressing

Unraveling the Gray Area Problem Luke Griffith, 2023-12-15 In Unraveling the Gray Area Problem Luke Griffith examines the US role in why the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces INF Treaty took almost a decade to negotiate and then failed in just thirty years The INF Treaty enhanced Western security by prohibiting US and Russian ground based missiles with maximum ranges of 500 to 5 500 kilometers Significantly it eliminated hundreds of Soviet SS 20 missiles which could annihilate targets throughout Eurasia in minutes Through close scrutiny of US theater nuclear policy from 1977 to 1987 Griffith describes the Carter administration's masterminding of the dual track decision of December 1979 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO initiative that led to the INF Treaty The Reagan administration in turn overcame bureaucratic infighting Soviet intransigence and political obstacles at home and abroad to achieve a satisfactory outcome in the INF negotiations Disagreements between the US and Russia undermined the INF Treaty and led to its dissolution in 2019 Meanwhile the US is developing a new generation of ground based INF type missiles that will have an operational value on the battlefield Griffith urges policymakers to consider the utility of INF type missiles in new arms control negotiations Understanding the scope and consistency of US arms control policy across the Carter and Reagan administrations offers important lessons for policymakers in the twenty first century
