Our True Beloved Michael S. Whiting, 2024-10-17 C S Lewis's masterpiece The Four Loves published in 1960 provided the world with a Christian exploration of four dimensions of human love extolling the divine blessings and warning of the idolatrous distortions in familial belonging storge friendship as a common quest philia romantic desire for personal union eros and concluding with the perfection of divine unconditional love agape Whiting uses the four loves as a framework to interpret the Christian love of God in historical movements across Catholic Orthodox Protestant and Pentecostal Charismatic churches He illuminates the often reactionary and competing tensions swinging between emphases on loving God in liturgical ritual and worship storge the active moral life philia personal spiritual experience eros and approaches of faith to suffering agape Synthesizing a panoramic view of Christian history with philosophy literature and biblical reflection Whiting shows how the love of God is diminished when the loves become fractured He advocates for an integrated holistic love of God that both avoids excesses and challenges the modern narrative of secular progress

New Zealand Farmer Weekly, 1927

The Migrant Cocoa-farmers of Southern Ghana Polly Hill, 1997 The economic and social organisation of Ghanaian cocoa farming is very complex reflecting differences in population density land tenure accessibility soil fertility and other factors The small peasant with his two or three acre farms is one type of farmer and it has always been supposed that it was he who created the world's largest cocoa growing industry The migration of southern Ghanaian cocoa farmers which has been proceeding since the 1890s was not known to have occurred and this study shows that it was the migrant not the peasant who was the real innovator This migrant has scarcely been mentioned in the literature Author Polly Hill now gives a full account of his migration one of the great events in the recent economic history of Africa south of the Sahara The migrant farmer who rather resembles a capitalist than a peasant buys land or inherits it from those who bought before him and conventionally uses the proceeds from one cocoa land to purchase others It is now possible with the aid of farm maps to study the whole migratory process with its changing pattern of land ownership over more than half a century The results are revealing The conventional notion that it was only recently that West Africans began to engage in large scale economic enterprises is shown to be false One of the main contentions of this book is that the migrant farmer has been remarkably responsive to economic ends It is further shown that there is no incompatibility between this kind of enterprise and the continuance of traditional forms of social organisation nor is there evidence that the enterprising individual found himself hampered by the demands made on him by members of his lineage In analysing and recording the details of the migratory process Dr Hill has made an important contribution to the economic history of West Africa Besides the economists and economic historians for whom the book is primarily intended it should be studied by lawyers geographers social anthropologists and all concerned with problems of underdevelopment In the Footsteps of the Masters Dickson Mungazi, 2000-02-28 The height of colonial rule on the African continent saw two prominent religious leaders step to the fore Desmond Tutu in South Africa and Abel Muzorewa in Zimbabwe Both Tutu and Muzorewa believed that Africans could govern their own nations responsibly and effectively if only they were given the opportunity In expressing their religious views about the need for social justice each man borrowed from national traditions that had shaped policy of earlier church leaders Tutu and Muzorewa argued that the political development of Africans was essential to the security of the white settlers and that whites should seek the promotion of political development of Africans as a condition of that future security Desmond Tutu and Abel Muzorewa were both motivated by strong religious principles They disregarded the possible personal repercussions that they might suffer as a result of their efforts to alter the fundamental bases of their colonial governments Each man hoped to create a new national climate in which blacks and whites could cooperate to build a new nation Each played a part in eventual independence for Zimbabwe in 1980 and for South Africa in 1994 Mungazi's examination of their efforts reveals how individuals with strong convictions can make a difference in shaping the future of their nations Human Rights Commissions and Ombudsman Offices Kamal Hossain, 2000 This volume reflects the findings of a conference organized in preparation of setting up a national human rights commission and ombudsman institution in the Federal Democratic Republic of Ethiopia The meeting assembled experts in the field of the protection and promotion of human rights and of the problems of countries in transition from a non democratic system characterized by gross violations of human rights towards a democratic system based on the rule of law and respect for human rights The book analyses the functioning of national human rights commissions and ombudsman institutions in 23 different countries by means of country report written in the main by members of these institutions themselves and containing an assessment of their experience Many offer relevant constitutional and legislative provisions as well This volume thus forms a unique collection of materials dealing with national human rights commissions and ombudsman offices Vanessa Dan Callahan,2014-05-15 Who isn't in awe of Vanessa Redgrave Her career on stage and screen remains vital and her extreme left political stands are still quite controversial This is the moment and this is the biography to take stock of Vanessa Redgrave both as actress and as political activist with a critical objective study of her life and career It is also time to account for her unparalleled achievements as an empathetic actress of considerable genius Anyone who has seen Redgrave in her numerous stage and film roles will know why she is the very best we have The radiant fearless daring perverse and always unpredictable Redgrave is the brightest light in the forest of her famous family
