Domestic Policy-Making in Saudi Arabia Mark C. Thompson, Neil Quilliam, 2022-03-24 Saudi Vision 2030 and the National Transformation Plan 2020 are governmental initiatives to diversify Saudi Arabia's economy and implement nationwide social changes. Media and scholarly attention often describe the success or failure of these ambitious visions. This book shifts the focus to instead examine and evaluate the actual processes of domestic policymaking and governance that are being mapped out to achieve them. The book is unique in its breadth with case studies from across different sectors including labour markets, defence, health, youth, energy, and the environment. Each analyses the challenges that the country's leading institutions face in making, shaping, and implementing the tailored policies that are being designed to change the country's future. In doing so, they reveal the factors that either currently facilitate or constrain effective and viable domestic policymaking and governance in the Kingdom. The study offers new and ground-breaking research based on the first-hand experiences of academics, researchers, policy makers, and practitioners who have privileged access to Saudi Arabia. At a time when analysis and reportage on Saudi Arabia usually highlights the high politics of foreign policy, this book sheds light on the low politics to show the extent to which Saudi policy, society, economics, and culture is changing. Perspectives on Teachers and Lecturers in Technical and Vocational Education Philipp Grollmann, Felix Rauner, 2007-05-31 This book provides insight into the history and current status of teaching in technical and vocational education across a broad range of countries. It contains studies of the profiles of teachers and lecturers and their educational practices. An overarching introduction embeds the content of the book into the current global context of Technical and Vocational Education and Training. This is the first substantial volume on the topic in 30 years. International Handbook of Education for the Changing World of Work Rupert Maclean, David Wilson, 2009-06-29 The aim of this Handbook is to review the developments that have occurred in Technical and vocational education and training (TVET) and that may help improve the field. The Handbook provides information on TVET models that occur in different parts of the world, reflects best and innovative practice, and wherever possible uses case studies as examples. The 220 authors are representative of the various regions of the world and major international organisations involved in TVET. This volume presents the work of established researchers as well as the work of promising young researchers. Intended as the universally accepted resource for the field, the Handbook provides a comprehensive coverage of cutting-edge developments in research, policy, and practice in TVET within a single source. It will assist those involved in TVET at any level in making informed decisions and further advance and improve the field and to bridge the gap between vocational and academic education in the 21st century. International Handbook on Education in Southeast Asia Lorraine Pe Symaco, Martin Hayden, 2021-12-23 This International Handbook provides a detailed account of the education systems of 11 Southeast Asian nations including Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao People's Democratic Republic, Malaysia, Myanmar, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, Timor-Leste, and Vietnam. It presents a systematic sector-by-sector explanation of how these national education systems deliver educational services.

and respond to national and international issues and challenges With 56 chapters the International Handbook is the region's most comprehensive educational reference source In the first of its chapters the editors introduce the regional context and draw attention to the distinctive characteristics of each of the 11 systems Southeast Asia representing 8.5% of the world's population is as dynamic as it is diverse The International Handbook charts progress and establishes a benchmark for documenting future developments It also provides a stepping off point for more detailed investigations of decision making processes and outcomes across the 11 national education systems

Teacher Educators in Vocational and Further Education Sai Loo, 2022-02-17 This book includes a range of empirical based international contributions by the global community of teacher educators and related researchers on the Further Education post compulsory vocational occupational and lifelong learning sector. It offers theoretical frameworks and empirical data to delineate issues relating to teacher educators and training in areas regarding policy programmes and pedagogic activities. Some of these areas include the education of teachers in vocational education, the professionalization of teacher educators in a neoliberal education system and teacher educators' perspectives of a training programme for vocational education and training. Additionally, the areas cover the relevance of coherence in vocational teacher education for teacher educators, the use of questioning strategies for teacher educators, teacher educators and their initial disciplines, journeys and job titles, the relevance of craft and reflectivity of teacher educators and the importance of teacher education and mentoring scheme. The rationale for this book is that there is a comparative lack of research and related publications on teacher educators and the delivery and design of teacher education facilitation in the sector internationally. Also, the FE sector is viewed as a backwater of educational research compared to the other sectors.

The University of Google Tara Brabazon, 2016-02-17. Looking at schools and universities, it is difficult to pinpoint when education, teaching and learning started to haemorrhage purpose, aspiration and function. Libraries and librarians have been starved of funding. Teachers cram their curriculum with skill development and generic competencies because knowledge, creativity and originality are too expensive to provide to unmotivated students and parents obsessed with league tables, not learning. Meanwhile, the internet offers a glut of information on everything under the sun, a mere mouse click away. Bored surfers fill their cursors and minds with irrelevancies. We lose the capacity to sift, discard and judge. Information is no longer for social good but for sale. Tara Brabazon argues that this information fetish has been profoundly damaging to our learning institutions and to the ambitions of our students and educators. In The University of Google, she projects a defiant and passionate vision of education as a pathway to renewal where research is based on searching and students are on a journey through knowledge rather than consumers in the shopping centre of cheap ideas. Angry, humorous and practical in equal measure, The University of Google is based on real teaching experience and on years of engaged and sometimes exasperated reflection on it. It is far from a luddite critique of the information age. Tara Brabazon celebrates the possibilities of digital platforms in education but deplores the consequences of placing funding on technology and not teachers. In doing so, she opens a new debate on how to make our educational system both productive and provocative in the post-information age.

Vocational Education and Training in Times of Economic Crisis Matthias Pilz, 2016-12-20. This book brings together a broad range of approaches and methodologies relevant to international comparative vocational education and training (VET). Revealing how youth in transition is affected by economic crises, it provides essential insights into the strengths and weaknesses of the various systems and prospects of VET in contexts ranging from North America to Europe (e.g. Spain, Germany or the UK) to Asia such as China, Thailand and India. Though each country examined in this volume is affected by the economic crisis in a different way, the effects are especially apparent for the young generation. In many countries, the youth unemployment rate is still very high and the job perspectives for young people are often limited at best The contributions in this volume demonstrate that VET alone cannot solve these problems but can be used to support a smooth transition from school to work If the quality of VET is high and the status and job expectations are good VET can help to fill the skills gap especially at the intermediate skill level Furthermore VET can also offer a realistic alternative to the university track for young people in many countries

Education in the Lao People's Democratic Republic Richard Noonan, 2020-05-20 This book provides a comprehensive and in depth description of the education system in Lao PDR It covers pre school primary secondary general secondary technical and vocational post secondary non higher education and adult non formal education and training In addition to the main content the book includes a glossary of terms and abbreviations used and an appendix on the organizational structure of the Ministry of Education and Sports including the linkages between the national provincial and district level The content covers public and private sector education provision alike

The Impact of Comparative Education Research on Institutional Theory David P. Baker, Alexander W. Wiseman, 2006-07-17 Explores how educational research from a comparative perspective has been instrumental in broadening and testing hypotheses from institutional theory This book contains theoretical discussions of the impact that comparative research has had on institutional theory and comparative scholarship that tests basic institutional assumptions and trends
