

3. The U.S. visa-granting system vets all foreign nationals on campus, including CI personnel, graduate students, postdoctoral fellows, and visiting scholars. With this being said, the Chinese government vets all CI staff provided by the Chinese partner institution, and these individuals may pose more of a concern than other Chinese nationals on campus.
4. Many institutions hosting CIs felt that there was real benefit to having the organizations on campus (Fowler, 2018; Kaleem et al., 2022), and that they could maintain the relationship appropriately through increased control, transparency, and clarity in the contractual relationship and management of the CI (Kaleem et al., 2022). This would protect core American university values of openness, transparency, and academic freedom.
5. Federal dollars for language education and area studies have decreased over the past several years, leaving a funding gap and creating an opening for other sources of nonfederal funding, including CIs, to support such activities (Flaherty, 2018; Franks, 2019; Friedman, 2015; NHA, 2022).
6. The loss of CIs on U.S. campuses has had a disproportionate effect on less affluent universities and their communities through the loss of resources and instruction for language and cultural studies at the K–12 and university levels (Allen-Ebrahimian, 2018).
7. Having students who are interested in China and who have received exposure to and training in Chinese language and culture is an economic and national security advantage for the United States in an increasingly complex geopolitical environment (Asia Society, 2005).
8. Industry needs Chinese language and cultural training and programming, as it depends on employees who understand Chinese culture and speak Mandarin to support trade and other international engagements (ACTFL, 2019).
9. DOD eroded trust with universities when it requested that universities submit waiver applications, rejected them all, and then provided no subsequent information about the criteria or reason for refusal (Kaleem et al., 2022). DOD did not issue any waivers in 2018 and 2019 based on its determination that issuing waivers was not in the national interest.

FINDINGS REGARDING THE EFFECT OF CIs ON ACADEMIC FREEDOM AND UNIVERSITY GOVERNANCE

10. CIs create potential risks to academic freedom and freedom of expression on U.S. campuses that disproportionately affect Chinese faculty, staff, and students.

Successful Global Collaborations in Higher Education Institutions Abdulrahman Al-Youbi, Adnan H. M. Zahed, William G. Tierney, 2019-08-15 This open access book presents deep investigation to the manifold topics pertaining to global university collaboration. It outlines the strategies King Abdulaziz University has employed to rise in global rankings and the reasons chosen to collaborate with other academic and research institutes. The environment in which universities currently exist is considered and subsequently how an innovative culture might be established and maintained to enable global partnerships to be implemented and to succeed is discussed. The book provides an intense focus on why collaboration is a necessary ingredient for knowledge transfer and explains how to do it. The last part of the book considers how to sustain partnerships. This is because one of the challenges of global partnerships is not just setting them up but also sustaining them. Higher Education in the United States Megan Brenn-White, 1949-12-31 As demographic changes reduce the number of domestic students in Europe, attracting the right students and scholars will become more important for administrators and faculty at higher education institutions in Germany. Especially the US is an important potential source of students for study abroad and degree programs in Germany, particularly those taught in English. As US universities begin to deploy more aggressive marketing tactics in international recruitment, it is important to understand both US recruitment practices and Germany's differential advantages. The book is written in English. The ordering process on this website is in German. English speakers should write service wbv.de. Durch die demografische Entwicklung wird die Zahl der einheimischen Studenten in Europa sinken. Gleichzeitig wird die Zahl der amerikanischen Studenten in den nächsten Jahren noch zunehmen. Um so wichtiger ist es für die Verwaltung deutscher Hochschulen, amerikanische Studenten für ein Studium in Deutschland zu gewinnen. Viele Kurse in Masterstudiengängen werden zudem in englischer Sprache angeboten. Der Band analysiert das US-amerikanische Universitätssystem, zeigt die Anwerbep Praxis amerikanischer Hochschulen und informiert über die Möglichkeit der Zusammenarbeit deutscher und US-amerikanischer Hochschulen. Experiences of International Faculty in Institutions of Higher Education Chris R. Glass, Krishna Bista, Xi Lin, 2021-08-12
 Responding to the growing need for recruitment and retention of international talent in higher education institutions globally this volume documents the experiences and contribution of international graduate students researchers and faculty This text foregrounds perspectives around recruitment transition integration professional development and the retention of scholars originating from or arriving in countries including China Australia Iraq Japan and the US By investigating the support systems that are in place to assist foreign born faculty members in institutes of higher education the text provides important insights for departments and institutions as they look to successfully attract and retain global academic talent Moreover the scientific and practical implications of the research presented in the text directly informs institutional policy working towards more effective inclusive and equitable ways to support international faculty This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in higher education international and comparative education and more specifically those involved with faculty development programs The text will also support further discussion and reflection around multicultural education international teaching and learning and educational policy more broadly Intelligent Internationalization Kara A. Godwin, Hans de Wit, 2019-10-14 In 2015 Laura Rumbley put forward the notion that higher education in a highly complex globally interdependent world would be wise to commit to an agenda of intelligent internationalization I2 I2 turns on the notion that the development of a thoughtful alliance between the research practitioner and policy communities in tandem with key decision makers in leadership roles is essential for institutions and systems of higher education seeking sustained relevance and vitality through their internationalization efforts Does intelligent internationalization make sense What is faulty misguided or missing from this analysis that could be strengthened through further consideration On the other hand what speaks to its value as an idea or agenda to advance the way that internationalization is understood and enacted in the world These issues will be addressed in this book which builds on a 2018 Symposium on Intelligent Internationalization

Development Outlook of Education and Migration Basant Potnuru, Narender Thakur, Perveen Kumar, 2023-11-21 This book describes the movement of un skilled and skilled workers both within and from India and its fallout on education and development It furthers the evidence on the contribution of education and international migration in development with specific reference to India as a major source country of migrant population The book also distinguishes the underlying linkages and distinction between international and internal migration on the one hand and the education and development experience on the other It brings forth the causes and development experiences of both migrations to a common platform to gauge on their similarities and differences in the lens of education and development As such this book contributes to the scant literature on Indian experience of internal and international migration and sheds light on future migration policy and course correction necessary for places and countries of migrant origin Journal of International Students, 2019 Vol 9(4) Krishna Bista, Chris Glass, 2019-11-15 The Journal of International Students JIS an academic interdisciplinary and peer
