Introduction to Video Search Engines David C. Gibbon, Zhu Liu, 2008-09-20 The evolution of technology has set the stage for the rapid growth of the video Web broadband Internet access is ubiquitous and streaming media protocols systems and encoding standards are mature In addition to Web video delivery users can easily contribute content captured on low cost camera phones and other consumer products The media and entertainment industry no longer views these developments as a threat to their established business practices but as an opportunity to provide services for more viewers in a wider range of consumption contexts The emergence of IPTV and mobile video services offers unprecedented access to an ever growing number of broadcast channels and provides the flexibility to deliver new more personalized video services Highly capable portable media players allow us to take this personalized content with us and to consume it even in places where the network does not reach Video search engines enable users to take advantage of these emerging video resources for a wide variety of applications including entertainment education and communications However the task of information extraction from video for retrieval applications is challenging providing opportunities for innovation This book aims to first describe the current state of video search engine technology and second to inform those with the requisite technical skills of the opportunities to contribute to the development of this field Today's Web search engines have greatly improved the accessibility and therefore the value of the Web Sound & Vision, 2007 Internet Tiara Yule, 2005 Digital switchover of television and radio in the United Kingdom Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Select Committee on Communications, 2010-03-29 The Committee warns of a major public reaction against radio digital switchover scheduled for 2015 unless the Government make the case for switchover and keep the public informed about its impact There is public confusion and industry uncertainty over radio switchover and concern that due to the lack of public information people are still buying analogue radios which will be out of date in a few years time Retailers gave evidence stating that they are not getting adequate information on switchover plans so are unable to offer consumers accurate guidance when making purchases The report also points out that car manufacturers are still fitting analogue radios in new cars and digital radios will not be fitted as standard in all cars until 2013 The radio switchover is contrasted with the television switchover programme finding that the benefits of TV switchover were well understood in contrast surveys show that the public are generally happy with the present FM radio system and with the range of programmes that are provided The Committee recommends urgent steps on a range of actions including providing a detailed plan for universal digital radio coverage including how it is to be funded developing a policy for the long term use of FM devising a help scheme for radio switchover financed by general taxation rather than the BBC licence fee ensuring new digital car radios are fitted with a multi standard chip to enable their use overseas encouraging radio manufacturers and retailers to devise a sensible scrappage scheme for redundant analogue radios It is also noted that the BBC and Government disagree over whether the cost of universal digital coverage of their national stations can be met under the current licence fee The report says that it is essential that a firm and unambiguous plan for funding the completion of build out of the digital radio service is put in place as soon as possible The report concludes reversing current policy would be unproductive given the amount of investment in digital radio already and while the switchover in 2015 is ambitious a change of target date is not favoured at this stage Netflix Recommends Mattias Frey, 2021-10-05 Introduction Why we need film and series suggestions How algorithmic recommender systems work Cracking the code part I developing Netflix's recommendation algorithms Cracking the code part II unpacking Netflix's myth of big data How real people choose films and series Afterword robot critics vs human experts Appendix designing the empirical audience study Switching to Digital TV Michael Miller, 2008-09-07 On February 17 2009 analog television broadcasting in the United States will end As of that date all television stations will switch to digital TV broadcasts effectively making obsolete every analog television set in the country What do you need to do to keep watching television after the switch to digital Do you need to buy a new television set If so
