Carceral Fantasies Alison Griffiths, 2016-08-23 A groundbreaking contribution to the study of nontheatrical film exhibition Carceral Fantasies tells the little known story of how cinema found a home in the U.S. penitentiary system and how the prison emerged as a setting and narrative trope in modern cinema Focusing on films shown in prisons before 1935 Alison Griffiths explores the unique experience of viewing cinema while incarcerated and the complex cultural roots of cinematic renderings of prison life Griffiths considers a diverse mix of cinematic genres from early actualities and reenactments of notorious executions to reformist exposés of the 1920s She connects an early fascination with cinematic images of punishment and execution especially electrocutions to the attractions of the nineteenth century carnival electrical wonder show and Phantasmagoria a ghost show using magic lantern projections and special effects Griffiths draws upon convict writing prison annual reports and the popular press obsession with prison house cinema to document the integration of film into existing reformist and educational activities and film's psychic extension of flights of fancy undertaken by inmates in their cells

Combining penal history with visual and film studies and theories surrounding media's sensual effects Carceral Fantasies illuminates how filmic representations of the penal system enacted ideas about modernity gender the body and the public shaping both the social experience of cinema and the public's understanding of the modern prison Library Book Catalog National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.
