Nike Annual Report 2002:

The Regional Multinationals Alan M. Rugman, 2005-01-06 Although many firms label themselves global very few can back this up with truly global sales and operations In The Regional Multinationals Alan Rugman examines first hand data from multinationals and finds that most multinationals are strongly regional with international operations in their home regions of North America the US or Asia Only a tiny proportion of the world s top 500 companies actually sell the same product and deliver the same services around the world Rugman exposes the facts behind the popular myths of doing business globally explores a variety of regional models and offers an authoritative agenda for future business strategy The Regional Multinationals is the essential resource for all academics and students in International Business Organization and Strategic Management as well as those with an interest in finding out how multinationals really work in practice and how future strategy must respond

The Global Corporation Laura P. Hartman, Patricia H. Werhane, 2013-12-19 This text brings together case studies focusing on specific instances of corporate best practices All too often we showcase cases based on questionable or unethical corporate behavior Instead the editors bring together in this book examples of how some firms got it right Certainly there is no claim that the companies in these case are perfect some of them may have histories that include questionable practices But these are companies that work to foster trust both internally and in their relationships with customers suppliers shareholders and the communities in which they operate The book is not however merely a descriptive iteration of effective corporate conduct The editors conclude with an analysis of frameworks for corporate and managerial ethical decision making frameworks that help to establish models for best practices These frameworks then can be generalized and applied to other corporate situations and replicated by other companies in their search for excellence and the resulting avoidance of misconduct
