

A journey by train is among the most enjoyable journeys. I travel long distance quite often and have travelled via buses, trains as well as aeroplanes. While each of these journeys has its set of benefits, I personally love train journeys.

A journey by train is the best if you have enough time and have to travel long distance. This is the only means of transport that allows you to sleep comfortably during the journey. I prefer travelling at night. I can comfortably sleep in the train during my journey and wake up fresh and head to work during my official trips. One of my most memorable journeys by train was when I travelled from Delhi to Lucknow last year. I went to visit my relatives in Lucknow. During this train journey, I met a group of college students. The group was lively, cheerful and extremely friendly.

The Impact of the Railway on Society in Britain A. K. B. Evans, J. V. Gough, 2017-03-02 Jack Simmons perhaps more than any other single scholar is responsible for the advancement of the academic study of transport history As well as being a co founder of the Journal of Transport History he wrote extensively on a variety of transport related topics and was instrumental in developing the London Transport and the National Railway museums Whilst his death in September 2000 at the age of 85 was a sad loss to the world of transport history the achievements of his life celebrated in this festschrift remain a lasting legacy to succeeding generations of scholars in many fields Concentrating on the theme of the railways and how they dramatically affected the development of Britain and her society this collection touches on numerous issues first highlighted by Professor Simmons which are now central to academic study These include the men who built the railways those who financed the enterprise how the railways affected such everyday issues as tourism the arts and politics as well as the lasting legacy of the railways in a country now dominated by the private car This volume written by former friends students and colleagues of Professor Simmons reflects these interests and provides a fitting tribute to one of the truly great British historians of the twentieth century

The Global Politics of Contemporary Travel Writing Debbie Lisle, 2006-11-02 To what extent do best selling travel books such as those by Paul Theroux Bill Bryson Bruce Chatwin and Michael Palin tell us as much about world politics as newspaper articles policy documents and press releases Debbie Lisle argues that the formulations of genre identity geopolitics and history at work in contemporary travel writing are increasingly at odds with a cosmopolitan and multicultural world in which everybody travels Despite the forces of globalization common stereotypes about foreignness continue to shape the experience of modern travel The Global Politics of Contemporary Travel Writing is concerned with the way contemporary travelogues engage with and try to resolve familiar struggles about global politics such as the protection of human rights the promotion of democracy the management of equality within multiculturalism and the reduction of inequality This is a thoroughly interdisciplinary book that draws from international relations literary theory political theory geography anthropology and history

Writing the South through the Self John C. Inscoe, 2011-05-01 Drawing on two decades of teaching a college level course on southern history as viewed through autobiography and memoir John C Inscoe has crafted a series of essays exploring the southern experience as reflected in the life stories of those who lived it Constantly attuned to the pedagogical value of these narratives Inscoe argues that they offer exceptional means of teaching young people because the authors focus so fully on their confrontations as children adolescents and young adults with aspects of southern life that they found to be troublesome perplexing or challenging Maya Angelou Rick Bragg Jimmy Carter Bessie and Sadie Delany Willie Morris Pauli Murray Lillian Smith and Thomas Wolfe are among the more prominent of the many writers both famous and obscure that Inscoe draws on to construct a composite portrait of the South at its most complex and diverse The power of place struggles with racial ethnic and class identities the strength and strains of family educational opportunities both embraced and thwarted all of these are themes that infuse the works in this most intimate and humanistic of historical genres Full of powerful and poignant stories anecdotes and testimonials Writing the South through the Self explores the emotional and psychological dimensions of what it has meant to be southern and offers us new ways of understanding the forces that have shaped southern identity in such multifaceted ways Achieving a in Gcse Aqa

in Narrative Theory Atsuko Sakaki,2023-11-01 Train Travel as Embodied Space Time in Narrative Theory argues that the train is a loaded trope for reconfiguring narrative theories past their spatial turn Atsuko Sakaki s method exploits intensive and rigorous close reading of literary and cinematic narratives on one hand and on the other hand interdisciplinary perspectives that draw out larger connections to narrative theory The book utilizes not only narratological frameworks but also concepts of space focused humanity oriented social sciences such as human geography mobility studies tourism studies and qualitative experience based ethnography in their post narrative turn On this interface of narrative studies and spatial studies this book pays concerted attention to the formation of affordances or relations in which the human subject uses a space time and things in it in terms of passenger experience of the train carriage and its extension Affiliation Atsuko Sakaki University of Toronto Toronto Canada
