Colored Property David M. P. Freund, 2010-04-13 Northern whites in the post

World War II era began to support the principle of civil rights so why did many of them continue to oppose racial integration in their communities Challenging conventional wisdom about the growth prosperity and racial exclusivity of American suburbs David M P Freund argues that previous attempts to answer this question have overlooked a change in the racial thinking of whites and the role of suburban politics in effecting this change In Colored Property he shows how federal intervention spurred a dramatic shift in the language and logic of residential exclusion away from invocations of a mythical racial hierarchy and toward talk of markets property and citizenship Freund begins his exploration by tracing the emergence of a powerful public private alliance that facilitated postwar suburban growth across the nation with federal programs that significantly favored whites Then showing how this national story played out in metropolitan Detroit he visits zoning board and city council meetings details the efforts of neighborhood property improvement associations and reconstructs battles over race and housing to demonstrate how whites learned to view discrimination not as an act of racism but as a legitimate response to the needs of the market Illuminating government s powerful yet still hidden role in the segregation of U S cities Colored Property presents a dramatic new vision of metropolitan growth segregation and white identity in modern America

The Financial Crisis of Our Time Robert W. Kolb, 2011-01-28 In 2006 residential real estate prices peaked and started to fall then threatened the world s financial institutions in 2007 and confronted the global economy with disaster in 2008 In the past few years millions of people have lost very substantial portions of their wealth And while the markets have rebounded considerably they are still far from a full recovery Now professional economists policy experts public intellectuals and the public at large are all struggling to understand the crisis that has engulfed us In The Financial Crisis of Our Time Robert W Kolb provides an essential comprehensive review of the context within which these events unfolded arguing that while the crisis had no single cause housing finance played a central role and that to understand what happened one must comprehend the mechanism by which the housing industry came into crisis Kolb offers a history of the housing finance system as it developed throughout the twentieth century and especially in the period from 1990 to 2006 showing how the originate to distribute model of mortgage financing presented market participants with a clockwork of perverse incentives In this system various participants simply by pursuing their narrow personal interests participated in an elaborate mechanism that led to disaster The book then gives a narrative of the crisis as it developed and analyzes all of the participants in the housing market from the home buyers to investors in collateralized debt obligations CDOs At each step the book explains in a nontechnical manner the essential relationships among the market participants and zeroes in on the incentives facing each party The book also includes an extensive glossary and a detailed authoritative timeline of the subprime financial crisis Offering a unique look at the participants and incentives within the housing finance industry and its role in the biggest financial catastrophe in recent history Robert W Kolb provides one of the most comprehensive and illuminating accounts of the events that will be studied for decades to come as the financial crisis of our time Financing Residential Real

Estate Megan Dorsey, David L. Rockwell, 2005 Code of Federal Regulations, 2017 Special edition of the Federal Register containing a codification of documents of general applicability and future effect with ancillaries How Americans Make Race Clarissa Rile Hayward, 2013-10-31 How do people produce and reproduce identities In How Americans Make Race Clarissa Rile Hayward challenges what is sometimes called the narrative identity thesis the idea that people produce and reproduce identities as stories Identities have greater staying power than one would expect them to have if they were purely and simply narrative constructions she argues because people institutionalize identity stories building them into laws rules and other institutions that give social actors incentives to perform their identities well and because they objectify identity stories building them into material forms that actors experience with their bodies Drawing on in depth historical analyses of the development of racialized identities and spaces in the twentieth century United States and also on life narratives collected from people who live in racialized urban and suburban spaces Hayward shows how the institutionalization and objectification of racial identity stories enables their practical reproduction lending them resilience in the face of challenge and critique Addressing Compassion Fatigue in Urban Schools Jacquelyn Ollison, 2024-12-20 As more students experience trauma and anxiety the toll of teachers compassion fatigue cannot be overlooked This important book explores what compassion fatigue looks and feels like for teachers who can become mentally and physically exhausted from caring and loving their students and may not want to stay in the profession as a result Topics explore symptoms that may arise the research on educator health and well being and strategies you can implement in your classroom and personal life to mitigate the effects Each chapter offers vignettes to showcase teachers experiences with compassion fatigue reflection questions to help you relate to the content personally and professionally and tools you can use throughout the school year This powerful book equips teachers with the knowledge to make impactful decisions enhancing their quality of life and improving school climate working conditions and the overall well being of students
