At His Gates, Volume 2 (of 3) Margaret Oliphant, 2015-03-09 Example in this ebook: CHAPTER I Helen had still another incident before her, however, ere she left St Mary's Road. It was late in the afternoon when she went back. To go back at all to enter the dismantled place and have that new dreary picture thrust into her mind instead of the old image of home was painful enough, and Norah's cheeks were pale, and even to Helen the air and the movement conveyed a certain relief. They went into the quieter part of the park and walked for an hour or two, saying little. Now and then poor Norah would be beguiled into a little monologue to which her mother lent a half attention, but that was all. It was easier to be in motion than to keep still, and it was less miserable to look at the trees, the turf, the blue sky than at the walls of a room which was full of associations of happiness. They did not get home until the carriages were beginning to roll into the park for the final round before dinner. And when they reached their own house, there stood a smart cabriolet before it, the horse held by a little tiger. Within the gate, two gentlemen met them coming down the steps. One of them was a youth of eighteen or nineteen who looked at Helen with a wondering, awe-stricken glance. The other was Mr. Golden. Norah had closed the garden door heedlessly after her. They were thus shut in the four together, confronting each other, unable to escape. Helen could not believe her eyes. Her heart began to beat, her pale cheeks to flush, a kind of mist

of excitement came before her vision Mr Golden too was not without a certain perturbation He had not expected to see any one He took off his hat and cleared his voice and made an effort to seem at his ease I had just called he said to express to inquire I did not know things had been so far advanced I would not intrude for the world Oh cried Helen facing him standing between him and the door how dare you come here Dare Mrs Drummond I I don t understand You do understand she said better far better than any one else does And how dare you come to look at your handiwork A man may be what you are and yet have a little shame Oh you robber of the dead if I had been anything but a woman you would not have ventured to look me in the face He did not venture to look her in the face then he looked at his companion instead opening his eyes and nodding his head slightly as if to imply that she was crazed It is only a woman who can insult a man with impunity he said but I hope I am able to make allowance for your excited feelings It is natural for a lady to blame some one I suppose Rivers let us go Not till I have spoken she cried in her excitement This is but a boy and he ought to know whom he is with Oh how is it that I cannot strike you down and trample upon you If I were to call that policeman he would not take you I suppose You liar and thief don t dare to answer me What at my own door at the door of the man whose good name you have stolen whom you have slandered in his grave oh my God who has not even a grave because you drove him mad she cried her eyes blazing her cheeks glowing all the silent beauty of her face growing splendid in her passion The young man gazed at her as at an apparition his lips falling apart his face paling He had never heard such a voice never seen such an outburst of outraged human feeling before To be continue in this ebook

A Dictionary of the English Language
Samuel Johnson,1827 The Holy Bible, Containing the Old and New Testaments ,1880 The Publishers Weekly
,1911 Memoirs of the Late War, Vol.1 (of 2) John Cooke, Example in this ebook CHAPTER I On the 24th of January 1805 I made my d but on the parade as ensign in the first West York powdered and equipped in full uniform with an artificial tail of considerable length tied round my neck a cocked hat square to the front and a sword five inches shorter than the regulation made in proportion to my height being only four feet eleven inches and within one month of attaining my fourteenth year My diminutive figure soon attracted the attention of the leading company of the regiment composed of gigantic Yorkshire grenadiers and excited so much merriment among them and so encreased my previous confusion that my eyes became dim and my feet seemed scarcely to touch the ground However some kind expressions from the officers who came forward and surrounded me and their gay appearance soon dispelled my inquietude A short time proved sufficient to instruct me in the duties required and the varied amusements caused the early months of my career to glide rapidly on Our uniform was plain faced with green but suddenly altered owing to an officer of expensive habits who ordered a new coat to be made and covered with a profusion of gold lace in which he appeared at the mess table and so captivated his companions by his rich display that a unanimous burst of admiration broke forth Although the lieutenant colonel was as much averse from any thing of the sort as it was possible for any one to be the new pattern was carried by acclamation and a tacit consent wrung from the commanding officer intermixed with his hearty execrations Frequently after the alteration he used to wear his old coat at the mess table by way of a treat when to his extreme mortification the very officer who caused the change would throw out hints about officers being unregimentally dressed Such was the ingenuity of this individual that on being refused leave of absence he waited personally on a general and afterwards declared that he had represented the necessity of his appearance at home in such moving words that he not only obtained double the time originally asked for but also drew tears of sympathy from the general's eyes In the early part of the summer General Sir John Moore inspected us on our parade ground and was pleased to pass his high encomiums on the very fine appearance and steadiness of the men while under arms Indeed the militia at large were equal to the line² in the execution of their evolutions and discipline and were well adapted for the defence of their native shores at this epoch threatened with invasion by the French Had their services been required to repel such an aggression led on by experienced generals without doubt they would have proved themselves equal to cope with any troops in the world and those who had an opportunity of judging at that time will I am confident fully coincide with me and join in just admiration at the high state of perfection that national force had been brought to During the summer the troops in the numerous towns and camps in Kent were reviewed Our brigade left Ashford and joined two battalions of the rifle corps 95th³ at Bradbourne Lees and manuvred before the Duke of York The 43rd and 52nd light infantry regiments were organised under the immediate superintendence of Sir John Moore⁴ assisted by Major General McKenzie at Hythe and Shorncliff camp in the most exemplary manner Those corps were indeed the admiration of all for their discipline and the rapidity of their light movements all of which being executed on the moveable pivot by divisions or sections formed columns squares lines and echelon without a halt by merely marking time To be continue in this ebook
