

The background of the entire cover is a photograph of a pair of hands, likely belonging to a person of East Asian descent, gently cupping a small, vibrant red origami bird. The hands are positioned in the lower half of the frame, with fingers slightly curled. The origami bird is a crane, a symbol often associated with longevity and peace. The background is dark and out of focus, showing hints of a person's face and clothing, which adds a sense of intimacy and mystery to the overall composition.

more nuanced representations of this group showing how the long accepted stories of Christian slaves and freepersons in Caesar's household should not be taken at face value but should instead be understood within the context of Christian myth and meaning making Flexsenhar analyzes textual and material evidence from the first to the sixth century spanning Roman Asia the Aegean rim Gaul and the coast of North Africa as well as the imperial capital itself As a result this book shows how stories of the emperor's slaves were integral to key developments in the spread of Christianity generating origin myths in Rome and establishing a shared history and geography there differentiating and negotiating assimilation with other groups and expressing commemorative language ritual acts and a material culture With its thoughtful critical readings of literary and material sources and its fresh analysis of the lived experiences of imperial slaves and freedpersons Christians in Caesar's Household is indispensable reading for scholars of early Christianity the origins of religion and the Roman Empire The Cambridge History of Medieval Political Thought C.350-c.1450 J. Eric Lowdermilk,2016-12-22 John 21 portrays seven disciples fishing all night yet catching nothing In the morning a shoreline stranger instructs them to recast their net Surprisingly the disciples fail to recognize him After a miraculous catch and subsequent breakfast however there is no doubt as to who this stranger is Jesus then questions Peter about his love and commissions him to feed Jesus sheep Using narrative criticism Lowdermilk examines this recognition scene asking How would a reader well acquainted with recognition and deception as portrayed in Genesis understand John 21 He discards trickster terminology and argues that biblical recognition occurs within a context of manipulation After proposing a detailed taxonomy of manipulation he ventures further and argues for patterns in Genesis where manipulators are counter manipulated in a reciprocal manner ironically similar to their own behavior providing a transforming effect on the manipulator These findings plus a careful examination of Greek diminutives inform Lowdermilk's new reading of John 21 1 19 Peter withholds his identity as a disciple in John 18 and later Jesus actively withholds his identity in ironic counter manipulation mirroring Peter's denials Jesus threefold questioning of Peter continues the haunting echoes of Peter's earlier denials Will it result in a disciple transformed
