Place Identity Participation And Planning:

Place Identity, Participation and Planning Cliff Hague, Paul Jenkins, 2005 Can regional identities create a more sustainable alternative to the increasingly standardised environments in which we live Is bottom up rather than top down planning possible Green Fields, Brown Fields, New Fields David Nichols, Anna Hurlimann, Clare Mouat, Stephen Pascoe, 2010 The conference explores past and future approaches to managing and designing for growth development and decline This goes beyond debates over density frontier development and renewal It includes new fields of historical policy and social research which inform discussion of heritage growth environmental economic and other issues of urban life and urban form Page iii

Territory, Identity and Spatial Planning Mark Tewdwr-Jones, Philip Allmendinger, 2006-09-27 This book provides a multi disciplinary study of territory identity and space in a devolved UK through the lens of spatial planning It draws together leading internationally renowned researchers from a variety of disciplines to address the implications of devolution upon spatial planning and the rescaling of UK politics Each contributor offers a different perspective on the core issues in planning today in the context of New Labour s regional project particularly the government s concern with business competitiveness and key themes are illustrated with important case studies throughout Heritage and Identity Marta Anico, Elsa

Peralta, 2008-11-26 Heritage and Identity explores the complex ways in which heritage actively contributes to the construction and representation of identities in contemporary societies providing a comprehensive account of the diverse conceptions of heritage and identity across different continents and cultures This collection of thought provoking articles from experts in the field captures the richness and diversity of the interlinked themes of heritage and identity Heritage is more than a simple legacy from the past and incorporates all elements past and present that have the ability to represent particular identities in the public sphere The editors introduce and discuss a wide range of interconnected topics including multiculturalism and globalization local and regional identity urban heritage difficult memories conceptions of history ethnic representations repatriation ownership controversy contestation and ethics and social responsibility The volume places empirical data within a theoretical and analytical framework and presents an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the representation of the past invaluable for anyone interested in heritage and museum studies Urban and Transit Planning

Francesco Alberti, Abraham R. Matamanda, Bao-Jie He, Adriana Galderisi, Marzena Smol, Paola Gallo, 2023-03-31 This book represents a compilation of research in sustainable architecture and planning Its main focus is offering strategies and solutions that help reducing of the negative impacts of buildings on the environment and emphasizing the suitable management of available resources By tackling the topic of sustainability from a historical perspective and also as a vision for the future the book in hands provides new horizons for engineers urban planners and environmentalists interested in the optimization of resources space development and the ecosystem as a whole to address the complex unresolved problems our cities are facing This book is a culmination of selected research papers from IEREK s sixth edition of the International Conference on Urban Planning Architectural Design for Sustainable Development UPADSD held online in collaboration with the University of Florence Italy 2021 and the first edition of the International Conference on Circular Economy for Sustainable Development CESD held online in collaboration with the University of Salento Lecce Italy 2021 Planning and Place in the City Marichela Sepe, 2013-03-05 Under the influence of globalization the centres of many cities in the industrialised world are losing their place identity the set of cultural markers that define a city's uniqueness and make it instantly recognisable A key task for planners and residents working together is to preserve that unique sense of place without making the city a parody of itself In Planning and Place in the City Marichela Sepe explores the preservation reconstruction and enhancement of cultural heritage and place identity She outlines the history of the concept of placemaking and sets out the range of different methods of analysis and assessment that are used to help pin down the nature of place identity This book also uses the author's own survey based method called PlaceMaker to detect elements that do not feature in traditional mapping and identifies appropriate planning interventions Case studies investigate cities in Europe North America and Asia which demonstrate how surveys and interviews can be used to draw up an analytical map of place identity This investigative work is a crucial step in identifying cultural elements which will influence what planning decisions should be taken in the future The maps aim to establish a dialogue with local residents and support planners and administrators in making sustainable changes The case studies are amply illustrated with survey data sheets photos and coloured maps Innovative and broad based Planning and Place in the City lays out an approach to the identification and preservation of place and cultural heritage suitable for students academics and professionals alike Urban Planning and Cultural Identity William Neill, 2003-10-23 Urban Planning and Cultural Identity reviews the intense spatiality of conflict over identity construction in three cities where culture and place identity are not just post modernist playthings but touch on the raw sensibilities of who people define themselves to be Berlin as the reborn German capital has put coming to terms with the Holocaust and the memory of the GDR full square at the centre of urban planning Detroit raises questions about the impotence and complicity of planners in the face of the most extreme metropolitan spatial apartheid in the United States and where African American identity now seems set on a separatist course In Belfast in the clash of Irish nationalist and Ulster unionist traditions place can take on intense emotional meanings in relation to which planners as mediators of space can seem ill equipped The book drawing on extensive interview sources in the case study cities poses a question of broad relevance Can planners fashion a role in using environmental concerns such as Local Agenda 21 as a vehicle of building a sense of common citizenship in which cultural difference can embed itself Regional and Local Economic Development Cliff Hague, Carrie Breitbach, 2017-08-24 From the growth of a multi billion dollar high technology corridor in Malaysia to conflict over housing development in Chicago the practice of regional and local economic development around the world is both dynamic and diverse Regional and Local Economic Development introduces the theory behind economic development and provides examples of successful and less successful practice This broad ranging new text shows how government private industry and individuals combine to achieve economic development It examines the development of policies and practices in recent decades such as eco industrial parks place marketing and social enterprises and analyzes the ways in which contemporary regional economies are changing It also summarizes the key academic debates and reviews the main concepts which inform policy making Truly global in scope with case studies from over 30 countries this book will be welcomed by students and practitioners alike

A Place called Nunavut Kim van Dam, 2008-12-31 In 1999 Nunavut Territory was created in the Canadian Arctic The area is about 50 times as large as the Netherlands and is inhabited by a population of 30 000 85% of the population is Inuit the indigenous people in this area The central questions in this research project are what place or regional identities are being ascribed to Nunavut by different groups of people from within and from outside the region and how do these identities work In the process of the formation of the region the territorial Government of Nunavut is an important actor in producing a regional identity that is based on the cultural identity of the Inuit the Inuit Homeland This official regional identity creates a symbolic unity that is important in linking people to the region and through which the land the history and the people are united in a new territorial membership However there is no reason to assume that there is only one regional identity for Nunavut Different individuals or groups of people from within and from outside the region such as the people who live in one of the 25 communities and those who work for the multinational mining corporations or as tourist operators are also involved in the production and reproduction of identities for Nunavut They represent Nunavut for example as a place to live a resource region a wilderness or as a sustainable place Nunavut Government also links these alternative identities to the area because as a government they are not only interested in protecting Inuit culture but also aim to modernize the economy in order to enhance prosperity and well being As such the place identities are hybrid and identities that before were produced only by external actors are now also being produced by internal actors and vice versa

Conceptions of Space and Place in Strategic Spatial Planning Simin Davoudi, Ian Strange, 2008-11-24 Bringing together authors from academia and practice this book examines spatial planning at different scales in a number of case studies throughout the British Isles helping planners to become re engaged in critical thinking about space and place

Space, Place and Inclusive Learning Judy Hemingway, Felicity Armstrong, 2016-04-08 This collection explores ways in which theories of space and place can be used in understanding processes of exclusion and inclusion in education The contributions foreground how the spatial turn and geographical knowledges can inform debates on the relationships between learning space and place understandings of the ways in which space and place affect education and learning familiar research agendas through the application of conceptual perspectives from different disciplines The ten chapters which make up this book are by contributors from Australia Italy and the United Kingdom who draw in very different ways on spatial theory as a means of exploring processes of inclusion and exclusion in education Each one of the authors not only seeks to challenge growing orthodoxies in their respective field but is interested in cross disciplinary and spatial theory in education This book provides key readings for experienced and beginning teachers studying for bachelors masters and research degrees or professional qualifications It will be particularly useful to equality and diversity post holders lecturers researchers and policy makers working in all education establishments which take issues of inclusion seriously The international content of the diverse papers in Space Place and Inclusive Learning will be of interest not only to those practising in the United Kingdom but to educationists working in other countries who seek to understand how space and place modulate opportunities for inclusion This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Inclusive Education

Waterfront Regeneration Harry Smith, Maria Soledad Garcia Ferrari, 2012-03-12 Waterfront regeneration and development represents a unique opportunity to spatially and visually alter cities worldwide However its multi faceted nature entails city building with all its complexity including the full range of organizations involved and how they interact This book examines how more inclusive stakeholder involvement has been attempted in the nine cities that took part in the European Union funded Waterfront Communities Project It focuses on analyzing the experience of creating new public realms through city building activities These public realms include negotiation arenas in which different discourses meet and are created including those of planners urban designers and architects politicians developers landowners and community groups as well as physical environments where the new city districts public life can take place drawing lessons for waterfront regeneration worldwide The book opens with an introduction to waterfront regeneration and then provides a framework for analyzing and comparing waterfront redevelopments which is followed by individual case study chapters highlighting specific topics and issues including land ownership and control decision making in planning processes the role of planners in public space planning visions for waterfront living citizen participation design based waterfront developments a social approach to urban waterfront regeneration and successful place making Significant findings include the difficulty of integrating long term sustainability into plans and the realization that climate change adaptation needs to be explicitly integrated into regeneration planning The transferable insights and ideas in this book are ideal for practising and student urban planners and designers working on developing plans for long term sustainable waterfront regeneration anywhere in the world
