This challenge is exacerbated when the resources available to people in urban places happen to be severely limited or their ability to make decisions consistent with their welfare severely constrained. Nevertheless, Africans have manifested great inventiveness and resourcefulness both in contributing to and in adapting to urbanization. Africa's Legacies of Urbanization is the culmination of several decades of research, travel and teaching. Goodwin provides an interdisciplinary and up to date look at African cities and the urbanization process. This thought provoking and engaging work tackles the vastness of the mother continent by dividing it into geographic regions: western, central, southern, eastern and northeastern. Beginning with an overview of the urban experience in Africa, Goodwin then studies the histories of urbanization in the various regions of the continent. Thoroughly researched and accessibly written, this comprehensive work will appeal to scholars of African studies, urban studies, anthropology and cultural ecology      Prehistoric Stone Tools of Eastern Africa John J. Shea, 2020-04-16 A detailed overview of the Eastern African stone tools that make up the world's longest archaeological record      Egyptology at the Dawn of the Twenty-first Century Zahi A. Hawass, Lyla Pinch Brock, 2003 This comprehensive three volume set marks the publication of the proceedings of the Eighth International Congress of Egyptologists held in Cairo in 2000, the largest Congress since the inaugural meeting in 1979. Organized thematically to reflect the breadth and depth of the material presented at this event, these papers provide a survey of current Egyptological research at the dawn of the twenty first century. The proceedings include the eight Millennium Debates led by esteemed Egyptologists addressing key issues in the field as well as nearly every paper presented at the Congress. The 275 papers cover the whole spectrum of Egyptological research. Grouped under the themes of archaeology, history, religion, language, conservation and museology and written in English, French and German, these contributions together form the most comprehensive picture of Egyptology today      The Desert Fayum Reinvestigated Simon J. Holdaway, Willeke Wendrich, 2017-12-31 The Neolithic is thought to have arrived in Egypt via diffusion from an origin in southwest Asia, relatively late compared to neighboring locations. The authors suggest an alternative approach to understanding the development of food production in Egypt based on the results of new fieldwork in the Fayum. They provide the results of a detailed study of the Fayum archaeological landscape interpretable at different temporal and spatial scales using an expanded version of low level food production to organize observations concerning paleoenvironment socioeconomy settlement and mobility While domestic plants and animals were indeed introduced from elsewhere when a number of aspects of the archaeological record are compared a settlement system is suggested that has no obvious analogues with the Neolithic in southwest Asia The results obtained from the Fayum are used to assess other contemporary sites in Egypt

The Oxford Handbook of Ancient Nubia Geoff Emberling, Bruce Williams, 2021-01-15 The cultures of Nubia built the earliest cities states and empires of inner Africa but they remain relatively poorly known outside their modern descendants and the community of archaeologists historians and art historians researching them The earliest archaeological work in Nubia was motivated by the region's role as neighbor trade partner and enemy of ancient Egypt Increasingly however ancient Nile based Nubian cultures are recognized in their own right as the earliest complex societies in inner Africa As agro pastoral cultures Nubian settlement economy political organization and religious ideologies were often organized differently from those of the urban bureaucratic and predominantly agricultural states of Egypt and the ancient Near East Nubian societies are thus of great interest in comparative study and are also recognized for their broader impact on the histories of the eastern Mediterranean and the Near East The Oxford Handbook of Ancient Nubia brings together chapters by an international group of scholars on a wide variety of topics that relate to the history and archaeology of the region After important introductory chapters on the history of research in Nubia and on its climate and physical environment the largest part of the volume focuses on the sequence of cultures that lead almost to the present day Several cross cutting themes are woven through these chapters including essays on desert cultures and on Nubians in Egypt Eleven final chapters synthesize subjects across all historical phases including gender and the body economy and trade landscape archaeology iron working and stone quarrying Travelling the Korosko Road: Archaeological Exploration in Sudan's Eastern Desert W. Vivian Davies, Derek A. Welsby, 2020-12-03 This volume publishes accounts of archaeological exploration carried out in the Sudanese Eastern Desert A pioneering programme of expeditions along the so called Korosko Road revealed a rich archaeological landscape frequented over millennia including gold production areas and their associated settlements Prehistory of Arid North Africa Angela E. Close, 1987 Droughts, Food and Culture Fekri A. Hassan, 2007-05-08 Recent droughts in Africa and elsewhere in the world from China to Peru have serious implications for food security and grave consequences for local and international politics The issues do not just concern the plight of African peoples but also our global ecological future Global climatic changes become manifest initially in regions that are marginal or unstable Africa's Sahel zone is one of the most sensitive climatic regions in the world and the events that have gripped that region beginning in the 1970s were the first indicator of a significant shift in global climatic conditions This work aims to bring archaeology with the domain on contemporary human affairs and to forge a new methodology for coping with environmental problems from an archaeological perspective Using the later prehistory of Africa as a comparison the utility of this methodological strategy in interpreting culture change and assessing long term response to current global climatic fluctuations is examined and understood
