Strategic Planning and Decision-Making for Public and Non-Profit Organizations Nicolas A. Valcik, 2016-03-30 This book provides administrators in public and non profit organizations with direction and a framework from which to lead their organizations effectively Taking a global approach to the issues administrators need to examine when managing a group of employees at any level including budgeting and expenditures forecasting policy creation and execution communication and reporting this book explores the driving forces in organizational decision making Author Nick Valcik takes a holistic view on organizational management beginning with the core aspects of public organizations and the leadership competencies necessary to manage an organization successfully Designed to be used on undergraduate and graduate courses in public administration and in public affairs programs the book discusses the basics of organizational structure delves into risk management issues and offers a set of tools that can be used by administrators to make informed decisions based on actual data or documented processes Throughout the book real world case studies provide students and practitioners with a clear understanding of how exactly the right decision tool may be applied when facing a particular decision in any organization Planning Strategic Interaction Charles R. Berger, 2020-07-24 In an earlier era the communication field was dominated by the study of mediated and unmediated message effects during which considerable research focused on the attitudinal and action consequences of exposure to messages A more catholic purview of the communication process exists today This more encompassing perspective does not deny the importance of studying message effects but raises the additional question of how individuals generate messages in the first place While the earlier era of communication research was dominated by studies that focused on attitude and behavior change as primary dependent variables such variables as message comprehension have begun to emerge in this new era The focus on communication and cognition has led paradoxically to a more intense focus on social interaction processes The theory and research presented in this volume seeks to strike a balance between the internal workings of the individual cognitive system on the one hand and the outer world of social interaction on the other Whether or not the theory and research stands the test of time it is clear that complete cognitive accounts of social interaction cannot confine themselves to mere descriptions of the cognitive structures and processes that are responsible for message production and comprehension Explicit links must be made between these cognitive structures and processes and the workings of social interaction This work takes a modest step in that direction
