Inserting Batteries into the Remote Control

Insert two size AA batteries (supplied) by matching the and in the batteries to the polarity inside the remote control's battery compartment.

2 Connecting Your TV

• Review the following chart to determine which diagram to use to connect the components in your system.

For these components		See remote ctrl
		B
		C
		D
		F

• For the "Cables Required" chart that appears with this diagram to determine which cables you'll need, see step 2 in previous steps, such as cables and options, depending on the components you plan to connect.

• Turn off and unplug all components before making connections. If you are connecting a digital cable box, you'll need a special, bi-directional splitter that's compatible with your cable box. Contact your cable provider for details.

Making Video Connections

Your TV includes several types of video inputs. Use the inputs that are available on your components that provide the best video performance as described below.

Connector type
HDMI (High-Definition Multimedia Interface)
Component video
S-Video
Composite video
RF (Antenna)

Additional Connections

For best video performance, connect your digital video components using either digital optical or digital coaxial video connections. Depending on which components are in your system, you may need to acquire additional connections. For example, if you have a satellite receiver, you'll need to connect the satellite receiver. If you have an A/V receiver, you'll need to connect speakers.

Notes

- The connections diagram shown in the components section represents only what you're able to connect. Your system may include other components that you're able to connect, or that you're not able to connect. Contact your cable provider for details.
- The front panel components are located in the front of the unit. When connecting the cables to the TV, connect the cables to the front panel, not the back of the unit.

4 Programming the Remote Control

The remote control is preset to operate Sony-branded video equipment.

Sony Equipment	Programmable Code Number
DVD/Video	800 (Sony Dream System)
Set Cable	600 (Sony Satellite Receiver)

If you have video equipment other than Sony-branded that you want to connect with the TV, consult manual, use the following procedures to program the remote control.

Step

For equipment that has a remote control, use the remote control to set up the remote control.

Using the code list below, find the three-digit code number for the manufacturer of your equipment. If more than one code number is listed, use the number listed first.

- Press the Setup button (1) on the remote control. The code number will appear on the TV screen.
- Press the Power button (2) on the remote control. The code number will appear on the TV screen.
- Press the Channel Up button (3) on the remote control. The code number will appear on the TV screen.
- Press the Channel Down button (4) on the remote control. The code number will appear on the TV screen.
- Press the Mute button (5) on the remote control. The code number will appear on the TV screen.

Step

- If you have a code number listed in the code list, use the code number to program the remote control.
- If you have a code number listed in the code list, use the code number to program the remote control.
