Biology 30 Unit D: Population and Community Dynamics

This is a list of some things you'll want to be able to do for the unit exam. This is not a complete list of everything that will be on the exam. If you can check off most of these boxes without looking at your notes, you have a good opportunity to do well on the exam.

Unit D: Population and Community Dynamics

Students must be able to:

- ☐ Recall all definitions, such as: system, equilibrium, population, Hardy-Weinberg principle, community, individual, gene pool, natural selection, synthesis, suicide toxin, natality, mortality, immigration, diversity, emigration, r-selected, K-selected
- ☐ Define the Hardy-Weinberg principle. Explain why it's significant in population gene-pool stability and nonequilibrium values
- ☐ Explain how genetic drift, natural selection, gene flow, nonrandom mating, bottleneck effects, founder effects, mutation, and mutation all contribute to the genetic diversity of a gene pool
- ☐ Use the Hardy-Weinberg principle to determine allele and genotype frequency in a set of data by using the equations $p + q = 1$ and $p^2 + 2pq + q^2 = 1$
- ☐ Explain how mutations and natural selection are at the molecular level and how significant they are over time
- ☐ Correctly apply significant digits when making calculations
- ☐ Explain predator-prey and consumer-producer relationships
- ☐ Define commensalism, mutualism, and parasitism
- ☐ Differentiate between interspecific and intraspecific competition
- ☐ Give examples of defence mechanisms and how they affect predation and competition
- ☐ Explain how population structures may change over time or day as a climax community
- ☐ Define primary and secondary succession
- ☐ Analyse succession patterns over time
- ☐ Calculate change in population size using the formula: $\Delta N = [\text{natality} + \text{immigration}] - [\text{mortality} + \text{emigration}]$
- ☐ Use formulas to calculate: growth rate, per capita growth rate, and population density
- ☐ Identify a growth pattern as either logistic (S-shaped) or exponential (J-shaped)
- ☐ Explain the difference between open and closed populations
- ☐ Identify a species as r or K selected based on characteristics or reproductive strategies
- ☐ Evaluate how environmental factors can affect population growth
- ☐ Analyse graphical data on r or K selected species

Hawkins, Howard V. Cornell, 2008-10-14 Biological control is the suppression of pest populations using predators parasitoids and pathogens Historically biological control has largely been on a trial and error basis and has failed more often than it has succeeded However by developing theories based upon fundamental population principles and the biological characteristics of the pest and agent we can gain a much better understanding of when and how to use biological control This book gathers together recent theoretical developments and provides a balanced guide to the important issues that need to be considered in applying ecological theory to biological control It will be a source of productive and stimulating thought for all those interested in pest management theoretical ecology and population biology An Introductory Guide to EC Competition Law and Practice Valentine Korah, 1994 Environmental Protection Research Catalog: Indexes Smithsonian Science Information Exchange, 1972 Subject Index of Current Research Grants and Contracts Administered by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute, 1978 Conference proceedings. Integrating Conservation Biology and Paleobiology to Manage Biodiversity and Ecosystems in a Changing World G. Lynn Wingard, Chris Schneider, Gregory P. Dietl, Damien Fordham, Policy makers and resource managers must make decisions that affect the resilience and sustainability of natural resources including biodiversity and ecosystem services However these decisions are often based on evidence or theory derived from highly altered systems and over short time periods of low magnitude environmental and climatic change Because natural systems change and evolve across multiple timescales from instantaneous to millennial long term understanding of how past life has responded to perturbations can inform resource managers By using these natural laboratories of the past conservation paleobiology and paleoecology provide the framework necessary to anticipate and plan for future changes The goal of this Research Topic is to heighten awareness among conservation and restoration practitioners to the value and applications of long term perspectives provided by conservation paleobiology and paleoecology Most conservation studies focus on systems already impacted by anthropogenic change these studies would benefit from paleontological data through expanded temporal scales identification of baselines and an understanding of how organisms have responded to past changes However resource management decisions rarely include input from paleontologists and paleoecological research is rarely incorporated into conservation decision making We seek to bridge this research implementation gap by highlighting the application of paleoecological data to issues such as biodiversity dynamics extinction risks and resilience to perturbations among other topics We hope to foster new cross disciplinary synergies by encouraging conservation scientists and managers to collaborate with paleontologists to improve conservation decision making and by increasing awareness among paleontologists to the needs of the resource management community This Research Topic will provide a forum for both the paleontological and resource management communities to exchange ideas that will enhance restoration and conservation decision making We invite papers on conceptual advances reviews of specific topics to guide efforts in research or practice case studies of successful applications articles describing datasets with applied value and perspective papers summarizing a body of paleontological research with relevance to the resource management community Topics can include but are not limited to Responses of species communities and ecosystems to perturbations Strategies to achieve the direct integration of paleobiology and paleoecology into on ground resource management Identifying baselines and reference conditions Increasing the robustness of forecasting models through the incorporation of paleontological data Identifying key species interactions and other phenomena as indicators of impending change New methodologies analytical tools and or proxies in the application of paleontological data to conservation and restoration practice Lynn Wingard Damien Fordham and Greg Dietl have no conflicts of interest Chris Schneider has a potential conflict of interest where manuscripts pertain to stakeholders in the petroleum industry as she is an independent contractor in the Alberta Oil Sands mining area
