methane transfer from the seafloor to the water column and ultimately to the atmosphere is also uncertain The seepage of methane and other hydrocarbons drives complex biogeochemical processes in marine sediments and the overlying water column Seeps support chemosynthesis based communities and impact the chemistry of the water column Seeps may also play a critical role in ocean acidification and deoxygenation and can be geohazards as well as a potential energy resource Unraveling the complex and dynamic interactions and processes at marine seeps is crucial for our understanding of element cycling in the geo and hydrosphere
