Being a nurse is a great privilege for me as my dreams have come true and I am helping people when they need assistance most. For me, each day spent in the hospital is full of valuable experiences as I learn a lot every minute. Therefore, it is quite difficult to think of the most valuable experience clinically. One of such cases was during my first days in the hospital when I had to work with a very specific patient who was angry and demanding. Of course, I understood that the man was in pain and his irritation was due to his poor health condition but he was quite abusive several times. I could lose my temper and tell him off but I pulled myself together. I would come to his ward and complete my tasks always smiling and talking to him. In a few days, I knew about his major concerns and could comfort him. When he left, we parted as old friends and he was grateful for my attitude. Now I know that I can find a way to every patient's heart to comfort him/her.

This experience is closely connected with one of my 'preceptors'. She was a great model for me as she was always positive and used humor as her major weapon. She could communicate even with the 'hardest' patients who seemed to try their best to insult healthcare professionals. I learnt from her loads of valuable lessons. One of them was to be positive and try to find a path to each patient. What is more, I learnt to develop proper relationships with other healthcare professionals. This woman managed to gain authority among her colleagues and patients and everyone was respectful. Another important thing I learnt from her is teaching patients to cope with their health conditions. I noticed that those who refuse to move have more health problems than those who are trying to be active. Some of my colleagues said it was an attempt to complete fewer tasks but I believe this is a good strategy which makes patients more responsible, more active and, as a result, makes them healthier. Now I am using lots of her tricks to develop relationships with everybody and I have to say that she is a genius as all these tools really work.

As has been mentioned above, I believe I have chosen the right way and I am a good nurse who can function in all sites. However, I think that the ward is where the nurse belongs. I like being with patients and try to spend as much time as possible with them. I believe that patients need our psychological help even more than clinical services and I will go into detail on that matter below. I admire nurses who work in Assessing for Learning Peggy L. Maki, 2023-07-03 While there is consensus that institutions need to represent their educational effectiveness through documentation of student learning the higher education community is divided between those who support national standardized tests to compare institutions educational effectiveness and those who believe that valid assessment of student achievement is based on assessing the work that students produce along and at the end of their educational journeys This book espouses the latter philosophy what Peggy Maki sees as an integrated and authentic approach to providing evidence of student learning based on the work that students produce along the chronology of their learning She believes that assessment needs to be humanized as opposed to standardized to take into account the demographics of institutions as students do not all start at the same place in their learning Students also need the tools to assess their own progress In addition to updating and expanding the contents of her first edition to reflect changes in assessment practices and developments over the last seven years such as the development of technology enabled assessment methods and the national need for institutions to demonstrate that they are using results to improve student learning Maki focuses on ways to deepen program and institution level assessment within the context of collective inquiry about student learning Recognizing that assessment is not initially a linear start up process or even necessarily sequential and recognizing that institutions develop processes appropriate for their mission and culture this book does not take a prescriptive or formulaic approach to building this commitment What it does present is a framework with examples of processes and strategies to assist faculty staff administrators and campus leaders to develop a sustainable and shared core institutional process that deepens inquiry into what and how students learn to identify and improve patterns of weakness that inhibit learning This book is designed to assist colleges and universities build a sustainable commitment to assessing student learning at both the institution and program levels It provides the tools for collective inquiry among faculty staff administrators and students to develop evidence of students abilities to integrate apply and transfer learning as well as to construct their own meaning Each chapter also concludes with 1 an Additional Resources section that includes references to meta sites with further resources so users can pursue particular issues in greater depth and detail and 2 worksheets guides and exercises designed to build collaborative ownership of assessment The second edition now covers Strategies to connect students to an institution s or a program s assessment commitment Description of the components of a comprehensive institutional commitment that engages the institution educators and students all as learners Expanded coverage of direct and indirect assessment methods including technology enabled methods that engage students in the process New case studies and campus examples covering undergraduate graduate education and the co curriculum New chapter with case studies that presents a framework for a backward designed problem based assessment process anchored in answering open ended research or study questions that lead to improving pedagogy and educational practices Integration of developments across professional scholarly and accrediting bodies and disciplinary organizations Descriptions and illustrations of assessment management systems Additional examples exercises guides and worksheets that align with new content
