I) The Catholic Church Faces Challenges" (Page 748 – 754)

 What was the Reformation? What was its purpose?

The Reformation was a movement of Western Christianity to end the corruption church leaders have used for their own benefit, and to concentrate on the religion. As the church reformed it also separated. It was important because it brought Christianity to only focusing on the religion. It also eliminated some of the church's practices.

A) The Reformation was needed, some said, because of "unpopular practices". Explain these two and why they were unpopular. Write in complete sentences, Using a Thesis, Examples and Restating " These practices were "unpopular" because:

1) Lay investiture:

Lay investiture was an unpopular and criticized practice during the Reformation. An example of the Lay investiture is if a king not a pope elected a bishop or other high-ranking officials. These practices were unpopular because people didn't believe a king who was qualified to appoint church officials. We would also see kings appointing people he trusts such as his family just for the king's benefit. Kings could corrupt the church with people who didn't care about the religion, and only worked for money for the king and themselves. Finally, lay investiture was unpopular because the king could use the church as power over many followers of Christianity because
