Reframing Rembrandt Je:

Reframing Rembrandt Michael Zell, 2002-03-04 This book embeds Rembrandt's art in the pluralistic religious context of seventeenth century Amsterdam arguing for the restoration of this historical dimension to contemporary discussions of the artists By incorporating this perspective Zell confirms and revises one of the most forceful myths attached to Rembrandt's art and life his presumed attraction and sensitivity to the Jews of early modern Amsterdam BOOK JACKET The Rise of the

Cult of Rembrandt Alison McQueen, 2003 Rembrandt's life and art had an almost mythic resonance in nineteenth century France with artists critics and collectors alike using his artistic persona both as a benchmark and as justification for their own goals This first in depth study of the traditional critical reception of Rembrandt reveals the preoccupation with his perceived authenticity naturalism and naiveté demonstrating how the artist became an ancestral figure a talisman with whom others aligned themselves to increase the value of their own work And in a concluding chapter the author looks at the play Rembrandt staged in Paris in 1898 whose production and advertising are a testament to the enduring power of the artist's myth Myth in History, History in Myth Society for Netherlandic History (U.S.). International Conference, 2009 In 1975 a group of Dutch and British scholars published a conference volume of collected essays entitled Some Political Mythologies That conference sought to examine the political myth as an object of historical study particularly in the context of the tumultuous and exceptional history of the Low Countries Thirty years later a more diverse group of scholars gathered to re-examine the history of Dutch myth making in light of developments in theoretical and methodological approaches to understanding the role of myths in national identity moral geography and community formation The results of their efforts appear in this volume Myth in History History in Myth The essays cover developments in history anthropology cartography philosophy art history and literature as they pertain to how the Dutch historically perceived these myths and how the myths have been treated by previous generations of historians Art Index Retrospective ,2006 Bibliographic Index ,2002 gallery collections Focusing on the production and reception of these texts the book explains the relevance of publishing to the cultural commercial and social contexts of collections and their institutions Combining theory with case studies from around the world Sarah Anne Hughes explores how why and to what effect museums and galleries publish books Covering a broad range of publishing formats and organisations including heritage sites libraries and temporary exhibitions the book argues that the production and consumption of printed media within the context of collecting institutions occupies a unique and privileged role in the creation and communication of knowledge Acknowledging that books offer functions beyond communication Hughes argues that this places books published by museums in a unique relationship to institutions with staff acting as producers and visitors as consumers The logistical and ethical dimensions of museum and gallery publishing are also examined in depth including consideration of issues such as production the impact of digital technologies funding and sponsorship marketing co publishing rights and curators and artists agency Focusing on an important but hitherto neglected topic Museum and Gallery Publishing is key reading for researchers in the fields of museum heritage art and publishing studies It will also be of interest to curators and other practitioners working in museums heritage and science centres and art galleries

The Moving Statues of Seventeenth-Century Amsterdam Angela Vanhaelen, 2022-08-05 This book opens a window onto a fascinating and understudied aspect of the visual material intellectual and cultural history of seventeenth century Amsterdam the role played by its inns and taverns specifically the doolhoven Doolhoven were a type of labyrinth unique to early modern Amsterdam Offering guest lodgings these licensed public houses also housed remarkable displays of artwork in their gardens and galleries The main attractions were inventive displays of moving mechanical figures automata and a famed set of waxwork portraits of the rulers of Protestant Europe Publicized as the most innovative artworks on display in Amsterdam the doolhoven exhibits presented the mercantile city as a global center of artistic and technological advancement This evocative tour through the doolhoven pub gardens where drinking entertainment and the acquisition of knowledge mingled in encounters with lively displays of animated artifacts shows that the exhibits had a forceful and transformative impact on visitors one that moved them toward Protestant reform Deeply researched and decidedly original The Moving Statues of Seventeenth Century Amsterdam uncovers a wealth of information about these nearly forgotten public pleasure parks situating them within popular culture religious controversies global trade relations and intellectual debates of the seventeenth century It will appeal in particular to scholars in art history and early modern studies

Animating the Antique Sarah Betzer, 2022-01-28 Framed by tensions between figural sculpture experienced in the round and its translation into two dimensional representations Animating the Antique explores enthralling episodes in a history of artistic and aesthetic encounters Moving across varied locations among them Rome Florence Naples London Dresden and Paris Sarah Betzer explores a history that has yet to be written that of the Janus faced nature of interactions with the antique by which sculptures and beholders alike were caught between the promise of animation and the threat of mortification Examining the traces of affective and transformative sculptural encounters the book takes off from the decades marked by the archaeological art historical and art philosophical developments of the mid eighteenth century and culminates in fin de siècle anthropological psychological and empathic frameworks It turns on two fundamental and interconnected arguments that an eighteenth century ontology of ancient sculpture continued to inform encounters with the antique well into the nineteenth century and that by attending to the enduring power of this model we can newly appreciate the distinctively modern terms of antique sculpture's allure As Betzer shows these eighteenth century developments had far reaching ramifications for the making and beholding of modern art the articulations of art theory the writing of art history and a significantly queer Nachleben of the antique Bold and wide ranging Animating the Antique sheds light upon the work of myriad artists in addition to that of writers ranging from Goethe and Winckelmann to Hegel Walter Pater and Vernon Lee It will be especially welcomed by scholars and students working in eighteenth and nineteenth century art history art writing and art historiography
