Science in Theology Neil Messer, 2020-06-25 If we wish to understand ourselves and the world in relation to God what contribution to our understanding should we expect from a Christian tradition with its roots in the Bible and what should we expect from the natural sciences Neil Messer sets out five types of answer to that question The responses range from the view that the Christian tradition has nothing to contribute through various forms of dialogue to the claim that science is irrelevant to theological understanding This classification scheme is illustrated and tested by extended explorations of three topics in the science and theology field how to think about God s action in the world how to make theological sense of the suffering and destruction involved in the evolution of life and how theology should respond to the scientific study of religion The classification offers a way to understand and evaluate these debates and the discussion of specific examples demonstrates the strengths and weaknesses of each type of approach The book concludes with suggestions for how readers might use this scheme to guide their own work on science and theology For students and researchers in science and theology this book offers three things a tool for understanding specific debates in science and theology critical surveys of some of the most important debates in the field and a concise guide to ways of setting up encounters of theology with science

RELIGIOUS SYNCRETISM IN AFRICAN CHRISTIANITY ISIAH OLUWAJEMIRIYE OLATOYAN, 2024-04-18 Christianity among the African people whether on the soil of Africa or in diaspora is perceived and defined differently by different people For instance among African traditional religious people and Muslims

Christianity is a foreign religion that must not be allowed to thrive in Africa To several Africans who profess Jesus Christianity is good but it is not adequate and effective enough to handle all human needs Still among some Western Christians and missionaries African Christianity is superficial and lacks total commitment to Christ Of course the Africans are a cultural people with profound religious inclinations Their traditional religion ATR has tremendously shaped their worldviews and socioeconomic and political activities Consequently when traditional Africans are converted to Christianity they do not break ties with their traditional religions completely The examination of relevant biblical texts on syncretism however reveals that God condemns the worship of many gods and places a curse on anyone who offers sacrifices to carved images and bows to them in worship Therefore this work investigates the root cause of religious syncretism among African people In the attempt to find answers to why the average African Christian finds it difficult if not impossible to abandon his her traditional religious belief systems completely to embrace Christianity the author concludes that unless the issues surrounding the African forgotten and secret covenants are exposed and decisively addressed in the light of biblical teaching syncretism will continue to be a stigma on the fabric of African Christianity Therefore to overcome the threats of syncretism in African Christianity there is a need to establish a sound theological and missiological framework that can address the problems associated with the African worldviews and belief systems This task must be carried out under the searchlight of Scriptures

Rashi, Biblical Interpretation, and Latin Learning in Medieval Europe Mordechai Z. Cohen, 2021-04-29 In this volume Mordechai Z Cohen explores the interpretive methods of Rashi of Troyes 1040 1105 the most influential Jewish Bible commentator of all time By elucidating the plain sense peshat of Scripture together with critically selected midrashic interpretations Rashi created an approach that was revolutionary in the talmudically oriented Ashkenazic milieu Cohen contextualizes Rashi's commentaries by examining influences from other centers of Jewish learning in Muslim Spain and Byzantine lands He also opens new scholarly paths by comparing Rashi's methods with trends in Latin learning reflected in the Psalms commentary of his older contemporary Saint Bruno the Carthusian 1030 1101 Drawing upon the Latin tradition of enarratio poetarum interpreting the poets Bruno applied a grammatical interpretive method and incorporated patristic commentary selectively a parallel that Cohen uses to illuminate Rashi's exegetical values Cohen thereby brings to light the novel literary conceptions manifested by Rashi and his key students Josef Kara and Rashbam

Law and the Philosophy of Privacy Janice Richardson, 2015-08-20 Situating privacy within the context of political philosophy this book highlights the way in which struggles concerning the meaning of privacy have always been political Different conceptions of privacy are here shown to involve diverse assumptions about ontology our conceptions of self culture society and communication Privacy theory's debt to Locke Kant or Mill and what is at stake in their conceptual frameworks is examined The extent to which the term privacy has been used to the detriment of and to create weaker parties in marriage in the workplace and now as citizens or non citizens and consumers as well as employees is also demonstrated In contrast Janice Richardson pursues the relevance of Floridi's philosophy of information before turning to her application of Spinoza the philosopher of communication in order to outline a more useful framework through which to think about privacy today The book will be of interest to those working in political philosophy feminist philosophy law the philosophy of information sociology media and cultural studies
