gathering and organizing the sheer mass of information in a meaningful way is a daunting challenge for any world history survey course. The seven part chronological organization enables students to understand the development of the world through time while also exploring broader big picture thematic issues in world history. Through new and revised chapter level and part level features the hallmark twin themes of traditions and encounters emerge in greater clarity than ever before in this sixth edition. As a result students have resources that enable them to move beyond the facts of history and examine the past critically, analyze causes and effects and recognize similarities and differences across world regions and time periods. By digging deeper into the implications of world history's stories not just the who, the what and the where but also the why and the how students can make sense of the human past. Connect is the only integrated learning system that empowers students by continuously adapting to deliver precisely what they need when they need it and how they need it so that your class time is more engaging and effective.

God's Design, 4th Edition Elmer Martens, 2015-11-11 How does one summarize the thirty nine books of the Old Testament? How might one determine the message of the Old Testament with others? This book attempts an answer to these questions. The answer is taken from a single Scripture passage Exodus 5:22-6:8 which is here considered a theological Table of Contents for the Old Testament. In addition to such topics as Deliverance, Community and Experiencing God, the book has an extended discussion on Land, a subject which deals with a wide range of interests but which only rarely receives attention in books on biblical theology. The current edition features reflections and a set of discussion questions following each of the seventeen chapters, a boon for university and seminary teachers and students and of large help for church study groups.

The Material of World History Tina Mai Chen, David S. Churchill, 2015-03-27 This volume considers the confluence of World History and historical materialism with the following guiding question in mind: given developments in the field of historical materialism concerned with the intersection of race, gender, labour and class, why is it that within the field of World History historical materialism has been marginalized precisely as World History orients toward transnational socio-cultural phenomenon, micro studies or global histories of networks? Answering this question requires thinking in an inter-related manner about both the development of World History as a discipline and the place of economic determinism in historical materialism. This book takes the position that historical materialism as applied to the field of World History needs to be more open to the methodological diversity of the materialist tradition and to refuse narrowly deterministic frameworks that have led to marginalization of materialist cultural analysis in studies of global capitalism. At the same time World History needs to be more self-critical of the methodological diversity it has welcomed through a largely inclusionary framework that allows the material to be considered separately from cultural, social and intellectual dimensions of global processes.
