buyers and the facilitation of the customer company's performance by the supplier brand. Different ways of classifying brands are suggested providing a better understanding of brand strategies adopted by business-to-business companies as well as new concepts such as brand printability, visibility and purchaseability. Five major brand categories are dealt with in separate chapters: entering goods brands, intermediary equipment goods brands, equipment goods brands, business-to-business service brands and industrial distributor brands. From a practical point of view, the aim of the book is to address the main concerns of managers: How to create and protect brands, What type of visual identity is appropriate, How to manage international brands. An analysis of 1 500 industrial brands as well as 40 case studies are included in this book. These brands are used in both the industrial, automotive, building, aeronautics, IT etc. and consumer sectors: clothing, electronics, food, packaging, telecommunications etc. This book has been written for professors and students of universities and business schools as well as managers and people working in industry or the service sector.
