Medieval Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta, Northern Cyprus Dr. Narmin Babazadeh Asbagh, 2024-12-12 Interpretation has recently become a more focused topic in the cultural heritage conservation field due to the increasing concern about the involvement of the stakeholders and the social pillar of sustainability As the enhancement of participation of the stakeholders in the conservation processes can be achieved by increasing their awareness and appreciation of cultural heritage sites interpretation has a considerable role in this process This research aims to search for methods for developing interpretation approaches for cultural heritage sites through the assessment of the responses of the stakeholders The churches of the Walled City of Famagusta have been chosen as the case study for this research due to the apparent interpretation problems Assessment of the responses of the stakeholders is accepted as a tool for developing a better interpretation of the cultural heritage buildings preventing them from further neglect or possible extinction This research proposes the advancement of interpretive approaches for similar undervalued and underappreciated sites There are many abandoned heritage buildings worldwide and due to the lack of function and maintenance deteriorate easily and are ruined Similarly abandoned valuable religious buildings have faced vandalism deliberately because of the decreasing demand for use or lack of their communities and many of them have been insufficiently interpreted for their visitors This research aims to develop an interpretive plan for the churches in the Walled City of Famagusta to overcome their current problems I would like to acknowledge that this book is the result of several pieces of research such as the published papers presented at international conferences from September 2014 until September 2024 and especially derived from my Ph D dissertation entitled Interpretation Problems and Proposals for the Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta under the supervision of Associate Professor Dr Ege Uluca T mer at the Architecture Department Architecture Faculty of Eastern Mediterranean University Famagusta Northern Cyprus defended in July 2023

Coffee R. J. Clarke, 2012-12-06 The term coffee comprises not only the consumable beverage obtained by extracting roasted coffee with hot water but also a whole range of intermediate products starting from the freshly harvested coffee cherries Green coffee beans are however the main item of international trade believed second in importance only to oil for processing into roasted coffee instant coffee and other coffee products prepared for local consumers The scientific and technical study of coffee in its entirety therefore involves a wide range of scientific disciplines and practical skills It is evident that green coffee is a natural product of great compositional complexity and this is even more true for coffee products deriving from the roasting of coffee The present volume on the chemistry of coffee seeks to provide the reader with a full and detailed synopsis of present knowledge on the chemical aspects of green roasted and instant coffee in a way which has not been attempted before that is within the confines of a single volume solely devoted to the subject Each chapter is directed towards a separate generic group of constituents known to be present ranging individually over carbohydrate nitrogenous and lipid components not forgetting the important aroma components of roasted coffee nor the water present and its significance together with groups of other important components

Latin Sermon Collections from Later Medieval England Siegfried Wenzel, 2005-02-17 Until the Reformation almost all sermons were written down in Latin This is the first scholarly study systematically to describe and analyse the collections of Latin sermons from the golden age of medieval preaching in England the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries Basing his studies on the extant manuscripts Siegfried Wenzel analyses these sermons and the occasions when they were given Larger issues of preaching in the later Middle Ages such as the pastoral concern about preaching originality in sermon making and the attitudes of orthodox preachers to Lollardy receive detailed attention The surviving sermons and their collections are listed for the first time in full inventories which supplement the critical and contextual material Wenzel presents This book is an important contribution to the study of medieval preaching and will be essential for scholars of late medieval literature history and religious thought
