

Describing Matter by using extensive and intensive properties

Extensive Properties are properties that depend on the amount of matter in a sample. They include mass and volume. The mass of an object is a measure of the amount of matter the object contains. The volume of an object is a measure of the space occupied by the object.

Intensive properties depend on the type of matter in a sample, not the amount of matter. The hardness of a boiling ball is an example of an intensive property.
