

Sewing in zippers

The zipper foot E can be attached so that it is located either to the right or to the left of the needle, making it easy to sew both sides of the zipper.

Lapped zipper

Baste the opening together with a decreased upper thread tension and long stitches. Leave approx. 2 cm (3/4") open at the top. Turn the work so that the wrong side is up. Fold the left seam allowance outward a couple of mm from the basted seam.

Attach the zipper foot to the left of the needle. Use the lower needle stop position if you have model 190. Place the zipper with the right side up under the folded seam allowance and sew the right edge of the zipper, starting at the bottom. Open the zipper a couple of cm (1") before the seam is finished, raise the zipper foot and pull the tab behind the foot. Lower the foot and finish the seam.

Move the zipper foot to the right of the needle. To sew the other edge of the zipper on the right side of the fabric, start with perpendicular stitching at the lower edge and then sew from the bottom to the top. Remove the basting.

Zipora Reuter, 2007-01-01 Policies implemented in the mid to late 1990s in Ontario by Mike Harris's Conservative government have had undeniable repercussions for the population of that province. Kate Bezanson's Gender the State and Social Reproduction is the first study to consider the implications of those policies for gender relations: that is, how women and men, families and households coped with these changes and how division of labour and standards of living were affected. Bezanson also considers implications of neo-liberalism more generally for the lives of people living under such regimes. Beginning with an outline of the restructuring experiment which took place under the Conservative government between 1995 and 2000, Bezanson shows how this process dramatically altered the scope of the welfare state, labour market protections and conditions, and the capacity for people to manage and plan their own lives. She combines this detailed investigation of the changes introduced by Harris with data collected in in-depth interviews of selected Ontario households in order to examine how neo-liberalism affects daily lives, particularly of low-income people and especially of women. Ultimately, Bezanson finds that the neo-liberal restructuring of Ontario in the 1990s consolidated a gender regime that was highly unsustainable for poor households, many of which were led by women. A controversial and illuminating study. Gender the State and Social Reproduction crosses the disciplines of politics, history, gender studies, and sociology. Construction
