The Ageless Self:

The Ageless Self Sharon R. Kaufman, 1986 Among the many studies of aging and the aged there is comparatively little material in which the aged speak for themselves In this compelling study Sharon Kaufman encourages just such expression recording and presenting the voices of a number of old Americans Her informants tell their life stories and relate their most personal feelings about becoming old Each story is unique and yet presented together they inevitably weave a clear pattern one that clashes sharply with much current gerontological thought With this book Sharon Kaufman allows us to understand the experience of the aging by listening to the aged themselves Kaufman while maintaining objectivity is able to draw an intimate portrait of her subjects We come to know these people as individuals and we become involved with their lives Through their words we find that the aging process is not merely a period of sensory functional economic and social decline Old people continue to participate in society and more important continue to interpret their participation in the social world Through themes constructed from these stories we can see how the old not only cope with losses but how they create new meaning as they reformulate and build viable selves Creating identity Kaufman stresses is a lifelong process Sharon Kaufman's book will be of interest and value not only to students of gerontology and life span development and to professionals in the field of aging but to everyone who is concerned with the aging process itself As Sharon Kaufman says If we can find the sources of meaning held by the elderly and see how individuals put it all together we will go a long way toward appreciating the complexity of human aging and the ultimate reality of coming to terms with one's whole life

Sharon R. Kaufman, 1986 Performing Age in Modern Drama Valerie Barnes Lipscomb, 2016-07-14 This book is the first to examine age across the modern and contemporary dramatic canon from Arthur Miller and Tennessee Williams to Paula Vogel and Doug Wright All ages across the life course are interpreted as performance and performative both on page and on stage including professional productions and senior theatre groups The common admonition act your age provides the springboard for this study which rests on the premise that age is performative in nature and that issues of age and performance crystallize in the theatre Dramatic conventions include characters who change ages from one moment to the next overtly demonstrating on stage the reiterated actions that create a performative illusion of stable age Moreover directors regularly cast actors in these plays against their chronological ages Lipscomb contends that while the plays reflect varying attitudes toward performing age as a whole they reveal a longing for an ageless self a desire to present a consistent unified identity The works mirror prevailing social perceptions of the aging process as well as the tension between chronological age physiological age and cultural constructions of age

Rowles, 2005-09-01 Leading scholars offering international and multidisciplinary viewpoints examine the meaning of home to elders and the ways in which this meaning may be sustained threatened or modified according to changes associated with growing old Organized into four sections The Essence of Home Disruptions of Home Creating and Recreating Home and Community Perspectives on the Meaning of Home this volume explores topics including What makes a house a home What role does the meaning of home play in the process of relocation to another place of residence What is the relationship between a person's home life and cherished possessions such as symbolic jewelry or religious items in late life How does the community neighborhood environment influence the way that older people feel about the places in which they live Contributors include Hans Werner Wahl Robert L Rubinstein Edmund Sherman Carolyn Norris Baker and Rick Scheidt among others As a special feature this volume concludes with critical commentaries from three eminent scholars Amos Rapoport Kim Dovey and Marie Versperi This volume will be of interest to practitioners researchers upper level graduates graduate level students in gerontology environmental psychology social work and nursing It will be valuable to everyone in the helping professions who seek a deeper understanding of the ways in which being at home and attachment to place plays a key role in the life experience and well being of their clients as they grow older      Gerotranscendence Lars Tornstam, 2005-06-20 Given the 2006 GREAT GERONTOLOGY AWARD for outstanding contribution to gerontological research by the Swedish Gerontological Society Received a VALUE GROUND AWARD from the journal Aldreomsorg Old Age Care Expanding upon his earlier writings Dr Tornstam's latest book explores the need for new theories in gerontology and sets the stage for the development of his theory of gerotranscendence. This theory was developed to address what the author sees as a perpetual mismatch between present theories in social gerontology and existing empirical data. The development towards gerotranscendence can involve some overlooked developmental changes that are related to increased life satisfaction as self-described by individuals. The gerotranscendent individual typically experiences a redefinition of the Self and of relationships to others and a new understanding of fundamental existential questions. The individual becomes less self-occupied and at the same time more selective in the choice of social and other activities. There is an increased feeling of affinity with past generations and a decreased interest in superfluous social interaction. The individual might also experience a decrease in interest in material things and a greater need for solitary meditation. Positive solitude becomes more important. There is also often a feeling of cosmic communion with the spirit of the universe and a redefinition of time, space, life, and death. Gerotranscendence does NOT imply any state of withdrawal or disengagement as sometimes erroneously believed. It is not the old disengagement theory in new disguise. Rather, it is a theory that describes a developmental pattern beyond the old dualism of activity and disengagement. The author supports his theory with insightful qualitative in-depth interviews with older persons and quantitative studies. In addition, Tornstam illustrates the practical implications of the theory of gerotranscendence for professionals working with older adults in care settings. A useful Appendix contains suggestions of how to facilitate personal development toward gerotranscendence. Essays, a literary genre, was born. At first sight the Essays resemble a patchwork of personal reflections, but they engage with questions that animate the human mind and tend toward a single goal: to live better in the present and to prepare for death. For this reason, Montaigne's thought and writings have been a subject of enduring interest across disciplines. This Handbook brings together essays by prominent scholars that examine Montaigne's literary, philosophical, and political contributions and assess his legacy and relevance today in a global perspective. The chapters of this Handbook offer a sweeping study of Montaigne across different disciplines and in a global perspective. One section covers the historical Montaigne, situating his thought in his own time and space, notably the Wars of Religion in France. The political, historical, and religious context of Montaigne's Essays requires a rigorous presentation to inform the modern reader of the issues and problems that confronted Montaigne and his contemporaries in his own time. In addition to this contextual approach to Montaigne, the Handbook also establishes a connection between Montaigne's writings and issues and problems directly relevant to our modern times: that is to say, our age of global ideology. Montaigne's considerations or essays offer a point of departure for the modern reader's own assessments. The Essays analyze what can be broadly defined as human nature, the endless process by which the individual tries to impose opinions upon others through the production of laws, policies, or philosophies. Montaigne's motto, "What do I know," is a simple question yet one of perennial significance. One could argue that reading Montaigne today teaches us that the angle defines the world we see or as Montaigne wrote What matters is not merely that we see the thing but how we see it Handbook of Aging and Mental Health Jacob Lomranz,2013-11-21 This comprehensive resource responds to a growing need for theory and multidisciplinary integrative research in adult and gerontological health Handbook of Aging and Mental Healthbrings together for the first time diverse strategies and methodologies as well as theoretical formulations involving psychodynamic behavioral psychosocial and biological systems as they relate to aging and health Forward thinking in his approach Lomranz provides the mental health adult developmental and geriatric professions with a single reference source that covers theory construction empirical research treatment and multidisciplinary program development Ribhu Gita Dr. H. Aging Bodies Christopher A. Faircloth, 2003-06-11 Western thought traditionally divides the human being into a body mind dualism a divide realized in the divergent research fields of geriatrics and gerontology the first examines the physical body and the second focuses instead upon psychological and social aspects of aging Research Health Scientist Christopher Faircloth's edited volume of original pieces attempts to bridge this rift reinserting the physical aging body and its lived experiences back into gerontology's study of aging He asks Is it not the physical body that readily marks us as aging Faircloth organizes this text around two major themes of the aging body everyday experience and the social and personal impact of its imagery while concentrating on three areas of substantive concern medicalization gender sexuality and the body as consumer This book would be of interest to gerontologists social scientists and students of these fields concerned with the aging body both object and subject as experienced and alternatively perceived in relation to contemporary society
